CANADIAN PRODUCE WILL GO TO UNITED STATES UNDER NEW LAW

Livestock Buyers From Over Border Line Busy in Five Provinces Securing Meat for Future Delivery When Wilson Signs Tariff Bill; Hay Buyers Also Seek to Take Advantage of Fifty Per Cent. Reduction

Ottawa, Sept. 27.—Extraordinary activity in all lines of Canadian products affected by the new United States tariff is evident. This applies not only to those Canadian products put on the free list by the new tariff bill, but also to those products on which the United States tariff is to be reduced by the bill about to be enacted by congress.

The Dominion government is giving as close attention to the subject as fire producers and sellers of the products to be affected. The department of trade and commerce and customs confidently expect to see huge increases of Canadian exports to the United States immediately following the enactment of the tariff bill.

Canadian and American buyers of live stock in Canada for export have been much in evidence throughout the eastern provinces, Ontario, Quebec,

New Brunswick, Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island for weeks past, and during the last two weeks their activity has been especially noticeable. All their purchases from the farmers have been made for future delivery.

Hay buyers, taking advantage of the proposed reduction for the United States duty of $4 a ton to $2 a ton are also going about buying very fast in quantities in spite of the fact that the crop is reported to be less than that of 1912.

Canadian trade figures for the first five months of the fiscal year, up to September 1, are out to-day. They show that the total of exports and imports for the five months ended August 31, were $456,723,137, compared with $408,698,748 for the same period last year. The total for August was $97,742,581, compared with $90,023,904 for August, 1912.

GRAIN MARKETED SHOWS INCREASE IN MANTOBA, SASKATCHEWAN AND ALBERTA

Shipping Figures Compiled by Canadian Pacific Railway Present Remarkable Advance on Business Done at Present Month of 1912

Winnipeg, Sept. 27.—A startling difference in the returns of the grain marketed by the farmers of the prairie provinces this year as compared with the returns for the same period last year is noticeable in the report yesterday by the officials of the C. P. R., which refers to the grain shipped over the western lines of the system.

In the province of Manitoba the wheat shipped this year so far totals 8,677,000 bushels and the other grains 1,464,000 bushels as compared with the returns for last year, which were for the same period 549,000 and 78,000 bushels respectively.

2,702,000 bushels of wheat last year and the 305,000 bushels of other grains.

In proportion the returns for the province of Alberta are almost as satisfactory, the figure for this year being 2,540,000 bushels of wheat and 1,269,000 bushels of other grain. Last year the returns for the period were: Wheat 281,000 bushels and other grains 284,000 bushels.

The totals for the prairie provinces of grain shipped by the C. P. R. this season are 21,222,000 bushels of wheat and 5,598,000 bushels of other grain. In mentioning the returns the officials stated that the company have up to date loaded 16,585 cars, against the total of 3,887 cars last year during the same period.

In Saskatchewan the greater area under cultivation with no less proportion of good crops making the returns considerably heavier, the figures for the year so far—19,119,000 bushels of wheat and 2,365,000 bushels of other grain, which is compared with the

ROOSEVELT ATTACKS TAMMANY METHODS

Ex-President Says Organization Greatest Menace of New York State

WANTS HONESTY IN MUNICIPAL AFFAIRS

Progressives Stand for Sulzer Because He Stood for Rights of People

TAMMANY REVENGE HAS CAUSED IMPEACHMENT

Rochester, N. Y., Sept. 27.—In an address before the state committee of the Progressive party here to-day, Col. Roosevelt declared that in the election in New York state this fall, the dominant concern of the people should be to prevent Tammany from obtaining complete control of the state, and to this the lesser issues must give way. He argued that the predicament in which the state finds its public affairs is due to the failure of the people to elect last fall a governor and legislature pledged to the carrying out of Progressive policies.

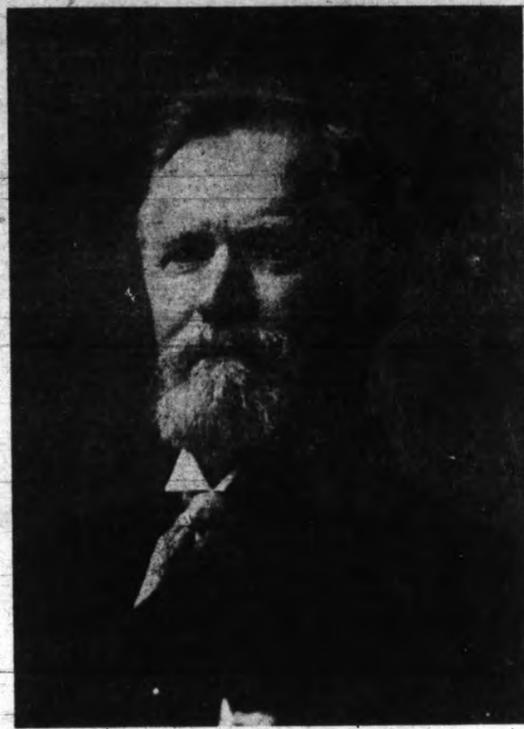

"At this moment," said the colonel, "that which contains the most menace to all our state is Tammany Hall. In New York City we Progressives are doing all that we can to elect a non-partisan ticket, headed by a Progressive Democrat, John Purroy Mitchell, so as to keep the municipal government out of the control of Tammany Hall and make it an instrument not only for securing honesty in municipal affairs, but for bettering the living and working conditions of the men and women who are toiling with their hands. In the same manner we have fought against Tammany Hall in the governorship fight, because Tammany Hall is attacking the governor not for what he may have done before election, but because since election he has stood for honesty and the rights of the people."

"I wish to call the attention of the 'Conservatives' who have professed such horror of the Progressive doctrine of the popular recall to just what has been done by Tammany in the absence of the popular recall. I ask you to consider whether you prefer the recall exercised by the people themselves at the polls or the recall exercised by Mr. Murphy at the end of a telephone."

"I am not now discussing the merits of the charges nor the evidence against Governor Sulzer. I am not now speaking of any matter pending before the court of impeachment. But the allegations that will be considered by the court of impeachment. These allegations afford only the nominal reason for his impeachment. All the matters now produced before that court were well known to the leaders of Tammany Hall at the time they were calling Governor Sulzer a second Andrew Jackson. They remained silent about them until the governor refused to take his orders from the boss of Tammany Hall. The real reason for the governor's impeachment may not come before the body now trying him, but these real reasons, these real charges, must be passed on by the people."

"No intelligent and honest man doubts that an attack upon the governor has been made, not because of anything he did during the campaign or before he took office, but because, through his officials, he hunted down corruption after he took office and because he championed the cause of popular government and the rights of the people against the mandate of Tammany Hall."

The Late William J. Pendray, Whose Death Was Caused To-Day by Sudden Accident

TRAGIC ACCIDENT CAUSES DEATH OF WILLIAM J. PENDRAY THIS MORNING

Prominent Business Man of Victoria Killed by Fall of Steel Pipe at Premises of British American Paint Works: Was Forty-Nine Years Resident of Province

A fatal accident, which resulted in the death of W. J. Pendray, president of the British-American Paint Works, and one of Victoria's most respected and highly-esteemed citizens, took place this morning shortly after 9 o'clock. The tragedy occurred on the premises, and was witnessed by nearly a score of men who were working in the building at the time, the whole affair happening so suddenly and unexpectedly, however, that no one was able to lift a finger to avert the calamity, or warn Mr. Pendray of his danger.

The firm recently installed an automatic fire-sprinkling system on the premises, and in order to provide the necessary pressure a tank was erected on a steel tripod 50 feet in height. On top of that was a 10-foot tank, with a capacity for several thousand gallons of water, and which had already been filled. Leading into the tank was a 4-inch feed pipe, which had been boxed in and covered with concrete. This had been connected, and the full pressure of the water in the tank was weighing down upon it. Mr. Pendray, who was making his morning round, and who had just a few minutes previously been chatting with one of his managers, passed under the pipe just as the moment when the construction gave way. Without a moment's warning he was pinned under the end of the broken pipe, his skull being crushed in like paper by the blow, and death occurring instantaneously. It is probable that he was never conscious of being struck, so sudden was the blow. Other terrible injuries were sustained, a foot being cut clean away, and the body being bruised.

A machinist, L. Sutherland, who was working at the top of the feed-pipe at the time, came down with the collapse, and also sustained severe injuries, his jaw being broken and the face badly scratched. He was removed at once to St. Joseph's hospital, where his injuries are being attended to.

The late Mr. Pendray is an old-timer here, and the news of his death will come as a shock to a wide-circle of friends and acquaintances all over the province. He first came to the province when a boy of 19 years of age, when he followed the trail into the Cariboo gold fields and made a small fortune. Returning to England he invested this in tin shares and other ways, during that time meeting Miss Amelia Carthew, who was destined to become his wife some few years later. Returning to Canada he came direct to Victoria, where he two years later started up in the soap business in a very small way on Humboldt street, that district being at the time one of the undesirable mud-flats which were afterwards reclaimed and made into some of the best residential territory in the city.

It was in that year that Miss Carthew came to the coast and became his wife. The business was run on a small scale, the staff consisting of Mr. Pendray, Mr. Sparrow, his bookkeeper, and an office boy. But the business grew rapidly, and more land was purchased,

MONASTIR IS THREATENED ALBANIANS GAIN VICTORY

Russia and Austria Stand Together to Prevent Servian Operations in Albania; Grecian and Turkish Situation Ranks First in European Interest; Treaty of London Will Be Supported If Ottoman Empire Attempts to Take Kavala

London, Sept. 27.—The Albanian army, said to be under the command of Essad Pasha continues its victorious march. The Servians are making desperate efforts to reinforce Monastir, which is seriously threatened.

Severe fighting near Ochrida, in Albania, 100 miles north of Janina, is said to have resulted in the complete success of the Albanians, who captured several guns.

In spite of the confidence expressed at Belgrade, the Servians have a long and arduous campaign before them. The Belgrade newspapers urge the complete extermination of the Albanians. It is reported that both Russia and Austria have warned Servia to confine her operations within her own borders, as defined by the ambassadorial conference. Interest in the Albanian situation for the moment has become secondary to that of the friction between Turkey and Greece.

It is claimed the powers will veto any attempt of the Turks to seize Kavala, but the fulfilment of the Treaty of London to make Adrianople Bulgarian has not imbued the ambitious military party of Young Turkey with any great amount of respect for the decision of the European concert.

Turkey now is in the hands of the all-powerful military party, which is apt to take any action that will strengthen it with the people.

London, Sept. 27.—King Constantine of Greece had a long conference to-day with Sir Edward Grey, British foreign secretary, on the situation in the Turkish province of Thrace and in Albania, which has become so menacing that Greece is preparing for a third Balkan war.

Belgrade, Sept. 27.—A force of 50,000 Mohammedan Albanians, equipped with modern arms and machine guns, advanced to-day on the towns of Kitchevo, Philip, Priesend and Letova. The Servians did not offer any resistance to the advance. Official circles here declare that several days must elapse before the Servian commanders are able to mobilize a force of troops sufficiently strong to deal with the Albanians.

KING GEORGE GIVES WELCOME TO OFFICERS

Men From Four Overseas Dominions Present at Manoeuvres at Aldershot

London, Sept. 27.—King George, addressing the general staff at the manoeuvres at Aldershot, said: "I am delighted to welcome the officers of four of the overseas dominions. I trust they have derived both pleasure and profit from their association with the troops of the Mother Country. I am convinced that good strides are being made in physical training in all ranks, and I have been greatly impressed with the keenness displayed both in the barracks and the field, individually and collectively, to achieve a good high standard of professional skill."

Colonel Sam Hughes attended the council dinner last night.

APPOINTMENTS GAZETTED.

Ottawa, Sept. 27.—The Canadian Gazette contains the official announcement of the following appointments: Hon. A. E. McPhillips, K. C., of Victoria, B. C., to be a puisne judge of the court of appeal of British Columbia; Robert Abernethy, of Port Moody, B. C., and R. C. Hodson, of Cedar Cottage, B. C., to be members of the North Fraser harbor commission.

their return to the city in the announcement of his death.

Aside from his devotion to his family, his gifts as a host—and he was noted among his friends as one of the most hospitable men in the city—his business, his place as a prominent Mason and Odd Fellow, and his position as a member of the Board of Trade, Mr. Pendray was noted all over the Island for his hobby of gardening. The grounds surrounding the residence on Belleville street are one of the picturesque spots in the city, where tall-top parties, conveying tourists and visitors to the city, make a point of stopping and calling attention to the quaint effects produced in tree and shrub. The hobby was an original one, and Mr. Pendray once confessed to a connoisseur on the subject of arboriculture that he had conceived the idea himself, and that his grotesque designs had not been inspired from outside models. The connoisseur was quite evidently astonished at the original genius displayed by his friend, and offered Mr. Pendray $500 to induce him to send one of his best tree-carvings to San Francisco to be shown there in connection with an exhibition of plants and flowers. But Mr. Pendray declined. Always an early riser, he often personally plied the shears in the carving out of quaint animal forms from the cedar and yew trees in his garden long before other people were thinking of rising.

W. J. Jeffrey, who lived some years on Fort street, was an uncle of the deceased man, and it was from his house that Mr. and Mrs. Pendray were married many years ago. Several families of relatives, in addition to his own immediate family, survive him in the city. A few years ago his eldest son met a violent death, being run over almost opposite the family residence, and killed outright within sight of his home. Three other sons, J. Carl Pendray, Herbert J., and Roy T., are left, all of whom are married and live in the city and are members of the firm of which their father was the head. The last-named lives at the family residence, Belleville street. His widow and three grandchildren, the children Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Pendray, also survive him, and the most sincere sympathy is extended to all the members of the family in their bereavement.

WOMEN ARE PINNED UNDER AUTOMOBILE

Machine at Seattle Turns Over After Dropping Down Embankment

Seattle, Sept. 27.—Plunging over an embankment on Washington Boulevard, in the vicinity of Nineteenth avenue, near the south entrance to Interlaken Park, shortly after midnight, an automobile, in which were four persons, two women and two men, was stopped in its downward flight by a clump of trees, and after dropping eight feet turned over, throwing one of the men a distance of several feet and pinning one of the women and the driver under the car.

The injured are: Miss Annie Redmond, aged 22, No. 216 Richards street, Vancouver, B. C., broken arm and other bruises; Miss Cora Hunter, 215 Richards street, Vancouver, B. C., body and legs badly bruised; William Murray, 1210 Second avenue, Seattle, driver of the car, had a finger on his left hand broken and minor injuries.

The other man who was in the car at the time of the accident escaped without injury and left the scene after the car stopped. His name could not be ascertained last night.

According to Murray, the driver of the car, he was engaged by the man to take the party for a ride over the boulevards. He says that he maintained an average rate of speed and that everything went well until the car was in the vicinity of Nineteenth avenue and Interlaken, when in rounding a curve he was confronted with the danger of colliding with an oncoming automobile speeding, and about to negotiate the same corner, but on the wrong side of the road. Murray says that the lights from the approaching machine blinded him for the moment, and hoping to avoid a collision he turned off the road into what turned out to be an embankment about 100 feet deep. Fortunately the presence of the trees saved the car from the deep plunge, and at a depth of about eight feet his car suddenly stopped and then turned over.

Meantime the car had been responsible for the accident continued on its journey, the occupants shouting a noisy farewell.

When Murray came to his senses he saw Miss Hunter wedged in the fork of three trees, with the automobile almost on top of her. Miss Hunter was unable to move. Miss Redmond was under the machine. Murray dug his way out from under the car, the earth being soft, and attempted to release the women.

V. O. Baker, walking the boulevard in search of a lost automobile, came upon the wrecked machine and its occupants at that moment. He notified the police department.

Miss Redmond was under the car when the officers and physician arrived, and they lifted the car and dragged her out.

The entire party was taken to the city hospital, where their injuries were attended. None of them is believed to be fatally injured.

Murray blames the driver of the approaching automobile for the accident. He says that he believes the driver and his party were intoxicated, which accounts for their attempting to turn the corner on the wrong side of the street.

Besides the four Belfast regiments, each of them commanded by a retired army officer or militia officer, the Ulster "war staff" consisting of General Richards, two retired colonels and two retired captains, paraded.

The volunteers were armed with dummy rifles as the carrying of firearms by unlicensed persons is prohibited in the British Isles.

Under that arrangement the House and senate will be compelled to vote on the conference report as a whole except for the cotton futures amendment. The remainder of the report must be accepted or rejected without amendment while the cotton futures amendment can be sent back to the conference with further instructions to the conferees.

Brussels, Sept. 27.—The famous $250,000 pearl necklace which was stolen from the mails and later picked up by a workman on a London sidewalk was sold to-day to Mile. Du Monceau de Bergendael, of this city, who is said to be acting for a celebrated personage, for $700,000.

The contract with Max Mayer, the London dealer in precious stones, stipulates that if the two pearls missing when the necklace was found should be recovered later the price would be increased to $750,000.

ANOTHER STRIKE IN LONDON THREATENED

London, Sept. 26.—London is threatened with another strike, which, if it materializes, will involve 15,000 employees of the various parcel express delivery companies. At the present time the dispute is confined to one firm, but following the tactics of the bus men in their recent strike, the express employees threaten to call out all the members of their organization unless the employers recognize the transport workers' union. Attempts to "work up" was to-night resulted in several fights.

TUGBOAT FLOATS ON GATUN LAKE WATER

Three Chambers on West Side of Lock Used to Pass First Boat Through

Panama, Sept. 27.—The most important step towards the operation of the Panama Canal took place to-day when the sea-going tugboat Gatun, drawing twelve and a half feet of water, was passed successfully through the Gatun locks and now floats on the bosom of Gatun lake.

This was the first attempt made to operate the locks on the canal, and the result was highly pleasing to Col. Goethals, chairman of the canal commission.

Hundreds of persons, men, women and children, withstood the burning rays of the tropic sun to see the act of passing the first vessel from sea level to the level of Gatun lake.

The operations were conducted with great care, and everything went through, according to schedule. The three chambers, upper, middle and lower, on the west side of the locks, were used on this occasion. The upper lock filled in the forenoon, and yesterday afternoon the water was admitted to the middle and lower locks, but it was not until 4.45 p. m. that the water in the lower lock had reached the level of that of the sea channel outside.

At that time the sea gate was swung and a moment later the tug, which had been in readiness all day in the approach channel turned its head toward the entrance.

As the vessel passed inside the lower lock chamber, a mighty cheer went up from the assembled thousands that lined the lock walls, the tug's whistle was blown loud and long, and all the whistles in the neighborhood joined in.

CANADIAN LOAN IS UNDERWRITTEN AT 99

One Million to Take Up Four Per Cents on Maturity October 1

Ottawa, Sept. 27.—The new Canadian four per cent loan of $3,000,000 has been underwritten in London at 99, and issued to the public. The placing of the loan is in accordance with the financial programme arranged by the finance minister, Hon. T. W. White, during his recent visit to England. The proceeds of the loan issued in part pays the four per cent loan of $1,000,000 maturing on October 1. The balance will not be specially appropriated to any item or items, but used for the general purposes of the Dominion. Included in the running expenditure this year are sums for civil service administration, interest on the national debt, sinking fund, administration of justice, provincial subsidies, grants in aid of agriculture, minor public works, marine and fisheries, and government railways and canals.

Provision must in addition be made for public works of capital character, such as dry-docks, canal construction, the national transcontinental railway, larger public buildings, etc., for which the government is justified in borrowing on the ground that the benefits extend to the future. Capital expenditure has been estimated for 1913-14 at $60,000,000.

Railway subsidies, as it well known, are usually charged to special account. Under the head of investment, expenditures will cover Grand Trunk Pacific railway debentures, guaranteed by the Grand Trunk railway Company, Montreal and Quebec harbor board debentures.

Railway subsidies are paid as work of construction proceeds. The Canadian Northern subsidy of last session and the G. T. P. loan will be distributed over the period of construction, namely, until the end of 1914.

LIFE-SAVING RULES RECEIVE OVERHAUL

New Regulations by Board of Steamship Inspection Are Completed

Ottawa, Sept. 27.—The board of steamship inspection has just concluded drafting life-saving regulations for all Canadian vessels, which contain radical changes from the old order of things. The changes have to be approved by the government.

The new regulations grew out of the world-wide demand for reform in marine rules, following the Titanic disaster, and will go into force at the opening of navigation next spring.

Particularly important are the changes with regard to vessels certified to carry passengers. The first law laid down in respect to these is that they be required to carry life-boats in such number and of such capacity as shall be sufficient to accommodate the total number of persons which the ship is certified to carry.

The captain or owner of a foreign-going ship, before it clears from port, must declare before the collector or other chief officer of customs that the life-boats actually carried will be sufficient to accommodate all persons that will be carried at any time during the voyage to foreign ports and back again to Canada. The appliances for launching the life-boats must be of such a character that the lowering into the water can be done speedily, efficiently and safely.

The rules further provide that all life-boats shall be efficiently equipped, and, in the case of foreign-going vessels, shall be fully supplied with provisions and with appliances which make for the greatest possible comfort of the occupants.

One approved life-jacket shall be carried for every passenger and member of the crew, and a proportion of these must be of suitable size for children.

Vessels engaged in the coasting trade, certified to carry passengers, must also carry a sufficient number of life-boats to accommodate, without danger, all passengers and crew carried, and, as in the case of deep-sea ships, must be equipped with modern life-saving appliances.

Vessels engaged in carrying passengers on short excursions have been given special attention. These boats must be equipped with life-boats sufficient to carry all passengers taken on an excursion. Approved life-jackets shall also be provided for every person taken on board.

Particularly strict rules are laid down for the boats carrying passengers on the lakes and inland waters, and there are special regulations governing equipment, including small boat life-jackets, davits and life-buoys.

The new rules will be submitted to the government, and it is practically certain they will be approved.

There is a drastic new rule proposed in regard to the use of searchlights. It is as follows:

"Any master or pilot on any steam vessel who shall flash or cause to be flashed the rays of the searchlight into the pilot-house of a passing vessel shall be deemed guilty of misconduct and shall be liable to have his certificate suspended or revoked."

ONE HUNDRED WARRANTS FOR STREET SPEAKERS

Thirty-Five Arrested; One Written to Judge Asking to Be Added to the Ninety-Nine.

Seattle, Sept. 27.—When the sheriff's office closed last night thirty-two of the ninety-nine signers of the Socialist resolution defying Superior Judge John E. Humphries' anti-street speaking injunctions had been arrested. All but four of those served with warrants were released on $250 bail to appear before Judge Humphries October 2.

One other name was added to the list of ninety-nine ordered arrested, when a letter was received by the court from James A. West, who said he would like to bring the roll up to an even hundred, and invited the court to arrest him with the others. Judge Humphries decided to accommodate West, and instructed the sheriff to arrest him.

Judge Humphries has turned over to the federal authorities threatening letters received by him since he began issuing injunctions after the Potlatch riots, July 18, and asked the postoffice department to investigate the sending of threatening matter through the mails.

OPERATING REVENUE OF RAILROADS INCREASED

Chicago, Sept. 27.—American railroads gross operating revenue in the fiscal year ending June 30, 1913, established a new high mark of $3,171,445,000, surpassing all previous records, according to figures compiled by the bureau of railway news and statistics of Chicago, made public to-day. This approximately is $28,000,000 or nearly 1 per cent, increase over the previous fiscal year.

The total operating expenses also showed an increase, the figures being $2,309,911,281 for the last year as compared with $1,990,061,981 for the previous year.

CHANGE OF COURT IN NANAIMO RIOT CASES

Application Made Before Mr. Justice Morrison Who Sends Trials to New Westminster

Vancouver, Sept. 27.—Alleging that the merchants of Nanaimo are living in such a state of terror that they neither dare to serve on a jury to try any of the men charged with rioting, or even to make an affidavit asking the court to order a change of venue, A. D. Taylor, K. Q., for the crown, yesterday asked Mr. Justice Morrison to order a change of venue in the case of Richard Goodwin, Jack Hall, John Connors, James Connors, Joseph Naylor and E. Morris. His lordship, after consideration, ordered the trials to be changed from Nanaimo assizes to New Westminster assizes, the crown to pay the cost of transporting and maintaining the witnesses required for the defence.

It is doubtful, however, if the trials will take place in New Westminster after all, for the accused men have the privilege of re-electing for a speedy trial, and in the opinion of J. E. Bird, counsel for the men, it is likely they will re-elect to come before Judge Howay at Nanaimo along with the 187 other accused, rather than go to the trouble of appearing at the New Westminster assizes.

Chief Constable Stephenson and Mayor Shaw, of Nanaimo, made the affidavits on which the application was made. They were almost identical in terms, and after reciting the history of the troubles at Cumberland and Nanaimo from their commencement last September, they stated that there had been a constant state of agitation in the district which culminated in serious riots on August 12 and 13. They recited that there had been 650 militia called in to restore order, and that 200 militia and special police were still in the town.

"There is one added objection to a change either to Vancouver or New Westminster," said Mr. Bird to-day. "In both Vancouver and New Westminster the newspapers have been printing one-sided and distorted reports and articles about the troubles at Nanaimo, and have been unduly influencing the public mind against the strikers. I do not think they could get a fair and unprejudiced trial in either place."

In making the order for the change Mr. Justice Morrison said he held that the material filed by the crown was sufficient to warrant a change of venue, and named the New Westminster assizes, which are now in progress, as the place of trial.

By a coincidence, Mr. Bird's partner, A. H. McNeill, K. C., is acting as crown prosecutor at the New Westminster assizes. Under the etiquette of the legal profession, Mr. McNeill would have to arrange for some other counsel to take his place as crown prosecutor if the cases in which Mr. Bird appears should come before the New Westminster assizes.

Nanaimo, Sept. 27.—Israel I. Rubinsowitz, Walter Pryde and Wm. H. Moore were committed for trial yesterday by Magistrate Simpson for picketing workmen in the vicinity of No. 1 shaft on September 22 last. The decision of the magistrate was given after a session of the court which continued from 10 a. m. to 4 p. m., during which a large number of witnesses were heard, the accused men also going on the stand in their own behalf.

IRON WASHERS REPORTED IN SAN FRANCISCO MINT

Official Count Said to Reveal Extensive Pilfering of Money Sacks in Vaults.

San Francisco, Sept. 27.—Circumstantial reports published here late yesterday of the discovery of extensive thefts in the United States mint brought neither confirmation nor denial from the mint officials. According to the rumor, which is said to have had its origin in the gossip of mint employees, a count of the coin stored in the mint which has been in progress for some weeks, has revealed systematic pilfering from the sacks.

In most instances the thefts amounted to no more than $2 or $3 from each sack, but there are persistent reports that a bag of iron washers had been found in the vaults, having been substituted for $30,000 in gold.

Thirty government agents have been at work on the count of the coin, which was ordered preparatory to a change in the office of sub-treasurer in this city. Some days will be required to complete the count.

FIVE KILLED IN TRAIN ACCIDENT NEAR QUEBEC

Carriage Crossing Railway Line Struck by Express Train Last Night.

Montreal, Sept. 27.—Five people were instantly killed by the C. P. R. Quebec express, ten miles from this city, last night, when the carriage in which they were riding was struck by the pilot of the engine. The dead: Harmidas Allaire, 49 years old; Mrs. Allaire, 44 years old; Wilfrid Lortie, bachelor, 42 years old; Albino Lortie, his sister, unmarried, 43 years old; Victoria Lortie, sister, 6 years old. They were all residents of St. Eusebe, Quebec.

The road is not much more than a rough track, and at the crossing where the accident took place there was no light or sight of habitation. The train was en route to Montreal.

ROMANCE OF LONDON'S SUPPLY OF WATER

New River Project Was Completed Three Hundred Years Ago

London, Sept. 27.—This month brings the tercentenary of one of the most important events in the history of London—the completion of Hugh Myddleton's New River project for supplying the metropolis with water.

Until the thirteenth century Londoners drew their water either from the Thames or from one or other of the springs and streams still commemorated in the nomenclature of city streets and districts. As London grew, however, these sources of supply proved insufficient, and in 1236 the city corporation obtained permission to construct a conduit "to carry water from a spring in the manor of Tyburn.

This, the "Great Conduit," which conveyed the water in six-inch leaden pipes to a great stone cistern in Westcheap, was presently supplemented by minor conduits, tapping more distant springs at Hackney, Highbury, and Hampstead.

The conduit system, though answering its purpose poorly, remained the sole source of supply until the spacious days of Elizabeth. By that time the inadequacy of the conduits to meet the demands of London's ever-increasing population, had become such an open scandal that the Queen's ministers at last saw fit to take the matter in hand and consider schemes of improvement.

Nothing definite was done, however, until the plague of 1603 quickened the laggard councillors to activity, still another four years elapsed before, after a thorough examination of various springs round London, it was decided to draw a new water supply from those at Amwell and Chadwell.

James I. granted permission for the construction of an aqueduct in 1607, and on April 21, 1609, the city sold all rights and privileges in the matter to Hugh Myddleton, a Welsh goldsmith and member of parliament for Denbigh.

A man of great resource and energy, Myddleton commenced operations immediately, but miscalculated the cost of the project, and was soon in financial difficulties. After appealing in vain to the city corporation, Myddleton turned to the King himself for help.

Thus aided, Myddleton pressed the work rapidly forward, completing his great undertaking in the strip days of September, 1611. On the 29th of that month the Lord Mayor (Myddleton's brother) rode out in state to Clerkenwell to perform the opening ceremony. After a long poetic address had been read, "the floods gates flew open, the streams ran gallantly into the cisterns, drums and trumpets sounding in triumphal manner." King James, a few days later, signalized the great event by bestowing a well-deserved knighthood upon Myddleton.

It has been estimated that the original capital of the New River Company amounted to £20,000, divided into seventy-six shares, of which one-half were assigned to the King. No dividend was paid until 1632, and Charles I. in 1636 tendered all his holding back to Sir Hugh in return for a settled "rent" of £500 per annum.

The subsequent rise in value of those once-despised shares is one of the romances of finance. In 1889 one share alone was sold by auction for £122,900!

PRESIDENT WAITS FOR DECISION OF COURT

Pardons Asked Are Not Given Because Cases Are Waiting Verdict on Appeal.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 27.—President Wilson declined yesterday to act at this time on the applications for pardon of John H. Bullock and C. E. Houston, convicted at Seattle November 12, 1912, of conspiracy to defraud the government by collusion in bids on coal. Following the recommendation of Attorney-General McReynolds the president refused to interfere while the cases are pending on appeal.

Although the cases have been appealed and the sentences of one year in prison and fines of $2,000 each have been held in abeyance pending the result of the higher courts, it is said that Bullock has informed the government that he probably will dismiss his appeal because of lack of funds to prosecute it.

It was the judgment of the president and attorney-general that the pardon power should not be invoked while the cases are still in the hands of the courts, where the defendants could find justice if innocent.

MINISTER OF COMMERCE SPEAKS AT CLUB LUNCH

Ottawa, Sept. 27.—Hon. George E. Foster, minister of trade and commerce, spoke at the Canadian Club luncheon yesterday. Hon. Mr. Foster has just returned from a 35,000-mile trip, in which he visited Australia, New Zealand, China, Japan and Korea. The results of his visit to Australia, China and Japan, Mr. Foster did not refer to, but he pointed out the extent and nature of the trade possibilities of the Eastern and Antipodean empires. China and Japan had done wonderfully in the way of intensive cultivation of their half-acre farms, and that was just the reason why, with their growing industrial population, they would not be able to do any more to supply their own increasing demand for food-stuffs. Therefore, said Mr. Foster, it is Canada's opportunity.

W. J. PENDRAY.

The announcement of the tragic death of W. J. Pendray will be read this evening with profound sorrow, not only in Victoria, where Mr. Pendray was well known and highly esteemed personally, but in all parts of the province and outside of it by reason of his long business relations and connections. The accident which resulted in the instant death of the man who has been in business in Victoria for more than a generation will cause a severe shock in the community and general sympathy, deep and sincere, will be felt for the members of Mr. Pendray's family.

THE TIDE TURNING.

The Colonist still argues that reciprocity would have been a bad thing for Canada. Two years ago our contemporary contended with fierce heat that if reciprocity went into force the wages of workmen in British Columbia would be reduced, and that dire disaster generally would be the result. Well, reciprocity did not go into force, and the workman became rich as a consequence? Unless our grasp of the situation is altogether wrong, there is not work to be found here in abundance, and the cost of living has just about reached the pinnacle of human endurance. The truth is—and any but the wilfully blind or the hopelessly ignorant can see it—that the sum of human prosperity or comfort cannot be attained by imposing artificial barriers to trade. Individuals or combinations of individuals may take advantage of trade obstruction to enrich themselves, but this they do at the expense of the community at large, and the general prosperity is not increased but decreased in the process. The soundness of this proposition has at last penetrated the understanding of the people of the United States. Ex-President Taft saw it first, but he had not the strength to resist the blandishments or the threats of the special interests. The farthest he dared go was exemplified in his reciprocity negotiations with Canada. President Wilson led an attack all along the line, and the fruits of his campaign will soon become manifest in the Underwood tariff bill. Practically the same combination which so long blocked tariff reform in the United States lined itself up behind Premier Borden two years ago in a general election in Canada. Borden and his allies achieved a temporary triumph then, but the people of Canada see more clearly and reason more intelligently to-day, and the premier and his myrmidons are on the point of experiencing the political tribulation of their lives. The false cry of "no truck or trade with the Yankees," upon the specious plea of loyalty to British connection, will not avail them when the day of judgment dawns.

H. C. BREWSTER.

It is gratifying to learn that the admirers of H. C. Brewster, the Liberal leader in this province, are preparing to hold a banquet in his honor in Vancouver in the near future. This is as it should be. No public man in British Columbia has a greater claim to respect and confidence than the gentleman whom the Liberals have selected to lead them. He is man of unblemished reputation and worthy attainments. His legislative career was highly creditable, winning tributes of praise from even his political opponents. In opposition his criticism was directed on constructive lines, and the numerous amendments he secured in important legislation proved the value of his counsel. We cast no reflection upon the gentlemen who compose the present opposition when we say that had Mr. Brewster been in the legislature last session many ill-digested measures would not have been passed without searching analysis and improvement. Mr. Brewster has never pursued the spotlight. He has no use for the poseur or the adoption of circus advertising as a means of winning political glory. He believes in the application of policies and measures which will best advance the public interests, building his political fortunes upon the sound foundation of a good clean record. He will not sacrifice a principle even for the sake of gaining office. He will not stoop to trickery and deception to obtain the support of the electorate. When the people of this province see fit to entrust him with the administration of its affairs they may be sure that he will discharge his duties in absolute accord with the high principles he has always supported.

British Columbia has reached a stage when wise and moderate counsels are required in the conduct of its affairs. Without indulging in captious reflections upon former governments, we believe it can truly be said that the province is suffering from the absence of real statesmanship in the past. Too much attention has been given to political expediency, to the dangerous theory that politics is a game to be played with any kind of cards. Men have been dominated entirely by ambition, and the inordinate desire for office at all costs, and to gain their ends have enlisted the support of parties to whom our resources have been handed over without the slightest regard for the public concern. No thought has been given to the future or to the heavy burdens coming generations will have to bear in consequence of what was done. Our timber and our land have been recklessly alienated; corporations have been granted concessions in the shape of immunity from taxation which are now imposing a heavy handicap on struggling localities throughout the province. These things may enrich private parties and redound to political success in the present, but they must inevitably prove inimical to the public welfare in the future.

Mr. Brewster will never resort to such means to gain power. His aim will be to build for the future. His training, temperament and high ideals make him incapable of any act that could justifiably be construed as a betrayal of the public interest. Moderation will mark his measures because moderation is one of his chief characteristics. He is a believer in the square deal, and therefore will not play class against class. His political creed is the greatest good to the greatest number, government by the people and of the people, and we do not believe he would hold office for one moment if it involved his departure from that principle.

SCARCELY LOGICAL.

A contemporary publishes a list of importations of food products into Canada from the United States to show that reciprocity would be of no value to the Canadian farmer. For instance, from April 1 to July 31 we imported 2,524,764 dozen eggs valued at $572,141; 110,608 pounds of cheese at $31,357; 33,882 pounds of butter at $22,349; 116,248 bushels of potatoes valued at $217,259; poultry amounting to $77,085, and beans, oatmeal and rolled oats in similar proportions, while our exportations of those products were insignificant. Upon all our importations we paid a heavy duty, which is largely responsible for the high cost of living in this country. Our contemporary contends that these figures show that the United States is an exporting country in these particulars, and therefore can be no market for Canadian farmers. Unfortunately for its argument, however, the United States also imports large quantities of the same products, upon which its people have paid a big duty. It imports more than 15,000,000 pounds of cheese valued at $3,000,000 every four months, and in the same period imports three times as much butter as it exports to this country. It imports about 4,000,000 pounds of potatoes valued at $2,300,000 in four months, although it exports to Canada, according to our contemporary, only $247,259 worth of this product. It is also a large importer of other farm products in spite of the fact that it exports quantities to Canada. These importations into the United States are from all countries, but, if we apply the argument of our contemporary, they show that the American producer cannot begin to supply the United States market.

A striking fact in connection with our importations of foodstuffs from the United States is that a very large portion of them come to British Columbia. We import a quarter of a million gallons of milk from that country in four months. We import in that period something more than a third of all the importations of eggs that come to Canada from the United States, and an equal proportion of poultry. If we were to eliminate British Columbia, which is the largest relative importer of foodstuffs of all the provinces, it would be seen that we bought next to nothing from across the line. But immediately across the boundary from Ontario and Quebec there is a vast market for farm produce, and it is that fact which has impelled President Wilson to lower the duties on food products coming into the United States. If the farmers of the western states were able to supply the thickly populated communities of the east there would have been no necessity for the reduced schedules in the new tariff. Our contemporary will pardon us, perhaps, if we prefer President Wilson's diagnosis of the situation in his own country. Some provinces of Canada, like British Columbia, will import farm produce from some states and other provinces will export to other states. At present the consumers on both sides are penalized by heavy duties. Reciprocity would remove these restrictions and enable the trade to flow backwards and forwards in its natural channels.

Our contemporary discusses the wheat question and says Canada imports a quantity of wheat from the United States. Therefore there is no market for Canadian wheat in the republic. But Canada exports to the United States many times the quantity of wheat she imports from that country, therefore there must be a market for Canadian wheat in the States. Which is it? However, we prefer to accept the opinion of the prairie wheat growers on that point. They are the people who know most about it and they say they are out and injured to the extent of millions of dollars in consequence of the defeat of reciprocity. Every child knows that Canadian wheat is of a quality that cannot be grown south of the line, and that once the tariff barriers were removed an enormous quantity would cross the border and help to destroy the every growing balance of trade the Americans have against us. We know that James Caruthers, one of the biggest wheat exporters in Canada, favors reciprocity in wheat, although we understand he violently opposed the agreement two years ago, and we also know that there is to-day in the government ranks in Ottawa a strong sentiment in favor of a trade arrangement with the United States which ultimately will result in a pilgrimage by the Minister of Trade and Commerce to Washington.

FARMERS ARE JUBILANT.

A dispatch from Ottawa says the officials of the Trade and Commerce department anticipate a big increase in Canada's exports to the United States as the result of the reduction of duties in the new American tariff. Already producers are preparing to make shipments across the line and large orders for some products, especially hay and livestock, have been taken for future delivery. Our contemporary this morning assured us that because Canada had imported hay from the United States there was no market south of the line for Canadian hay. What does it think of the jubilation of the hay growers of Ontario and Quebec who have already sold to the market for delivery when the new tariff comes into effect? And this in spite of the fact that there will still be duty of $2 per ton against Canadian hay. The first taste of that great market will make the Canadian farmers hungry for more, and they will not rest now until the government negotiates an arrangement with Washington which will remove the duties on natural products altogether. We should remember that under such an arrangement Canada would be granted privileges in the American market not available to other countries unless, of course, they negotiate ahead of us. Reciprocity is coming and the Tory press of Canada will be found declaring that it is "a thing of beauty and a joy forever."

The insurance rates are going to be reduced. Let us return thanks for one mercy, however small. One thing has been discovered that is not going up in price.

WATCH VICTORIANS DO 'EM.

From the Ottawa Free Press. No, this city will never take first prize in any contest to make poor men out of the bookmakers.

RATES LOWERED

Insurance on Residences in B. Section of City and Oak Bay Will Cost Less.

A reduction in the insurance rates on residential property in the B section of the city, which embraces the area outside the business district, and part of Oak Bay, will come into effect on November 1. This is in accordance with the promise made by the Vancouver Island Fire Underwriters' Association to reduce the rates when the water service and the fire department had been put into better condition.

The business district rates will not be affected. The city residential rates will be continued in three classes, 40, 45, and 50 cents per $100, in place of 50, 55 and 60 cents, which has prevailed. The portion of Oak Bay which has been paying 50, 55 and 75 will now secure rates of 45, 55, and 60 cents per $100. It is not surprising that the association has at length been willing to reduce the rates, in view of the justice of making them approximate more closely to those in other British Columbia cities. The only serious fires of late years have been in the business district, which is not affected by the present alteration. Every time the city authorities have asked for decrease of rates reasons for delay have been advanced, but the thorough report made by the late secretary of the Underwriters' Association last year on the water and fire protection showed that the city had greatly improved its services and some reduction was due to the citizens.

Rev. R. E. Knowles Expected to Preach To-morrow Evening at First Presbyterian Church.

Rev. R. E. Knowles, widely-read author and popular as a preacher all over Canada, is staying at the Empress hotel, and it is expected, will occupy the pulpit at the First Presbyterian church to-morrow evening.

As a young man Mr. Knowles was sent out to Sooke as a missionary, while a student at Queen's University, Kingston. He also acted as assistant to Dr. Fraser, one of the pastors at the First Presbyterian church, and is known personally to many Victorians. He spoke last night in Vancouver to a very large audience who gathered in St. Andrew's Presbyterian church there, and during his visit also addressed the Ladies' Canadian Club.

A constant contributor to the Toronto Globe, the author of "St. Cuthbert," "The Undertow," and many other widely-read books, his name is a household word. He also occupies the pulpit at one of the biggest Presbyterian churches in the Dominion, Knox Church, Galt, Ont., and has the distinction of being particularly popular and influential with young men.

ARE STILL SEARCHING

Assault of Chinese is Being Looked for by the Provincial Police.

The hunt for the assailant of the Chinese, Lim Bat Lum, who was shot while asleep in his cabin near Colwood early on Thursday morning, is going on but the provincial police are handicapped by the absence of any sort of a clue that can be acted on.

Investigation so far entirely fails to disclose any reason for an attack being made on Lim Bat, who does not appear to have any enemy, white or alien. It is becoming plain that the man who fired at him must have been insane at the time, and it is more than likely that he is the same person who murdered Samuel Campbell on the reserve on the night of August 21.

No one was seen about the place before or at the time of the shooting nor, what is stranger, can anyone be found who heard any shots. The removal of the board in the cabin wall previous to the shooting and the accusations of the assailant all seem to support the theory that he is not in his right mind, whether this derangement extends to general insanity or is a homicidal mania which comes over him at times.

WARNING TO DRIVERS.

Width of Tires and Weight of Load Must Be Watched in Saanich.

Three cases were heard in the Saanich police court to-day under the provincial traffic regulations. All were for driving with loads of produce or goods in wagons which had tires of a less width than is required by law and with a load in excess of what is allowed by the provincial statutes.

All the offences occurred on Quadra street on Tuesday last and the several defendants pleaded guilty, being fined five dollars each. E. Roskamp was represented by Oscar C. Bass, who pointed out to the court that his client was driving a load of fruit which required to be brought into town at a slow pace so as not to injure it. A motor car, counsel declared, would do more damage to a road in one trip than this wagon would do in a year. It was a pity, he said, that the regulations were not changed to meet modern conditions. Samuel Dickson and Reginald Masston pleaded that they were not acquainted with the law, but this, of course, is no excuse.

The Season's Leading Styles In Ready-to-Wear Apparel For Men, Women and Children

Are Now Exhibited In Our Windows and Showrooms

A Perfect Fitting Costume Is Not An Expensive Luxury at Spencer's

MOST women, even those with a very limited income, can indulge in a costume that displays all the refined touches that skilful artists and tailors usually put into garments that have been considered expensive in the past. The display of models now to be seen in the department on first floor will confirm this statement. Either the plain-tailored or the fancy styles are to be had in all sizes and as the assortment includes English, French, German and other European models there is a variety that should cover all tastes. Broaded silk weaves, plain and fancy eporges, velours, two-tone coutils and Bedfords are some of the chief materials. Some are lined with the best of Skinner satin, and all are finished in a manner that will delight the particular woman. The styles are not only correct and right up to the latest dictation of fashion, but are unusually handsome and have all the distinctive metropolitan touches that are so irresistibly attractive to women who desire above all things to be correctly and smartly attired. Prices start at $25.00 and range up to $75.00

Strong Values In Stylish Suits For Men and the Prices Are Low

BECAUSE the quality of the garments is such that few men would believe could be produced for the price unless actually seen for themselves. It was generally considered that the very best quality of tailoring was produced by the custom tailor, and that it was an impossibility to buy a really well-fitting suit with a touch of individuality about it unless you had it made to your measure and paid at least $30 to $35, but this isn't the case to-day. Like all other trades, the tailoring of Men's Suits has now evolved to the specialist stage. No one man tries to make a whole suit in the modern custom factory. Each little part is done by a man who concentrates on that part only and as a result he becomes a specialist who should be very hard to beat. Here are Suits that have been made under these conditions, and that is why we are able to offer you clothes that measure well up to the standard of a very high class of custom tailoring at a price that is well within reach of the average man. Blue serges in the rough or smooth finish so popular with the business men, or there are the English and Scotch tweeds in a great variety of new shades and patterns for you to select from. The coats are in the three-button sack style or double-breasted models, while the trousers are in the semi-peg top style fitted with five pockets. We have your size here in a pattern that will suit you, and we guarantee a perfect fit. Prices from $12.50 to $32.50

Handsome Net Waists at $2.90

OUR Net Waist trade is the largest on the Pacific coast. It therefore means a great deal when we say that the Waists exhibited in the View street windows and in the showroom on the first floor are the biggest values we have ever shown. No effort has been spared to secure such values as will break all selling records for this department, and we confidently await your verdict. They are all such pretty styles this season and are made up of fine quality Brussels net over a Japanese silk foundation. Some are tucked, while others have embroidered fronts trimmed with silk or colored buttons, laces or frills; high and low necks; three-quarter and full-length sleeves are here for you to choose from, and for further particulars we ask you to see the special showing in the View street windows or come and examine them in the department at close range. There's not a Waist here that would be sold in the ordinary way for less than $3.75. But through the large orders we are able to place with the manufacturers direct, we are able to sell them at $2.90

MARTIN THOMAS O'BRIEN

The lecture to be delivered by Martin Thomas O'Brien at Victoria Theatre on Wednesday and Thursday, October 1 and 2, is especially prepared so that it may be instructive to young ladies and gentlemen in order that they may learn the identity and personnel of the white slave and the manner in which he holds himself aloof from suspicion while masquerading with an apparent air of respectability.

During Mr. O'Brien's professional career as a criminal lawyer, he has devoted much time and attention to the subject of white slavery, having travelled extensively and personally instituted an investigation into the most important systems employed by the white slave to ensnare the innocent and unsuspecting young lady into the bondage of slavery. He will endeavor to enlighten the refined members of society as to the magnitude of the white slave traffic.

The first appearance of Kitty Gordon in "The Enchantress" will be registered at the Victoria Theatre for two nights and matinee starting to-night when the fair lady will be seen in the gorgeous spectacle that Jos M. Gaites has supplied for her. The plot of "The Enchantress" is based on the love of Prince Ivan of Zerovia, whom during the evening, becomes king. He falls in love with Vivien, the role played by Miss Gordon, who is the enchantress and in order that he may marry the choice of his heart the king abdicates. Secret documents, however, reveal the fact that Vivien is a princess and so the story comes to a happy ending. Act one, representing the royal palace, gives ample opportunity for a brilliant display of all the pomp and glory of military uniforms and regar robes, jewels and crowns, while in act two, Vivien's villa on the banks of the Danube, portrays the Bohemian life of the musician and artist from a realistic standpoint. The intrigues of the court leads to many amusing situations and are naturally mirth-producing.

Here on a Holiday.—Shortly after midnight a telephone call from 1219 Pandora avenue brought Detectives Turner and Scilliano there in quick time. When they arrived they were told of a man having tried to get into the house by way of the back-door, and persisting in his attempts even after he had been asked what he wanted. Going down the street the detectives saw John Maloney, who was pointed out to them as the man, and they arrested him. He was very drunk at the time and in police court this morning he still showed the effects of his spree. The charge laid against him was that of attempting to break and enter, but the city prosecutor was satisfied that this could not be sustained and changed the charge to one of being drunk on the street, for which a fine of four dollars was imposed. Maloney is a cannery hand at Steveston and he came over here for a holiday. He remembers nothing of the affair.

Supplied an Iridian.—Wm. Johnson was to-day sent to jail for three months at hard labor for having supplied a bottle of whiskey to a klootchnan yesterday. License Inspector Scott caught him in the act of handing over the bottle. Just three years ago Johnson was convicted of a similar offence and served one month in jail.

Payment for Egeria.—The woes of the Vancouver Navy League over the training ship Egeria are not yet over. When it was found impossible for the league to support the ship it was offered for sale and disposed of to the Vancouver Trust Company. A promissory note was made for $1,070, given by the company and A. Goldberg, for the balance of the purchase money, and the league is now suing for the recovery of this sum, action having been entered by A. J. Kappelle on its behalf.

Charge Not Sustained.—A charge of the theft of a bottle of whiskey from the Coach and Horae Inn in which Sauro Rocklinley was the accused, was heard by Magistrate Jay in Esquimalt police court this morning, but after the evidence had been put in the court was convinced that the man had not had any intent. He had been drinking a good deal of late and that morning had several drinks at the bar. He has been living in the hotel for the past eight years. J. Charles McInroy, prosecuted for the municipality and C. K. Courtenay defended McInroy.

Chinaman released.—The charge of vagrancy laid against Lee Dow Ho 1 to be withdrawn this morning, as it was felt that there was no evidence to support the charge. The man's conduct has been very suspicious of late, however, and he has sold in second-hand shops recently thirteen pairs of shoes, a silver and pearl brooch, four alarm clocks and a Winchester rifle. There is no evidence that any of these goods have been stolen but the circumstances are considered by the police as giving cause for suspicion. The authorities will be glad to hear from anyone who has lost any goods similar to those mentioned.

A FUTILE CREED.

Look here, my friend, with all your song and dance,

And all your "scientific" circumstance,

In which you try to prove the Universe,

And life within it merely luck, or worse,

The whole beginning and its ending past,

Within the hazard of some "accident,"

Just take the sun, the moon, the stars we see,

With all their clock-like regularity,

Can you believe that all this consequence

And certainty so real are based on chance?

I don't.

And won't I consider if I would,

And what is more, I wouldn't if I could!

CORNER-STONE LAID

Hon. H. E. Young Officiates at Ceremony at the New Lamson Street School.

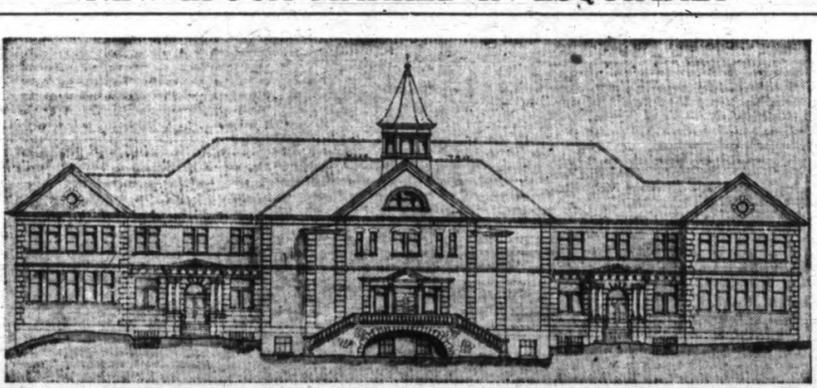

The laying of the corner-stone of the new building which is to add eight class-rooms to the Lamson Street school took place at 7 o'clock this afternoon, the minister of education, Hon. H. E. Young, performing the ceremony.

Leonard Tait, chairman of the Esquimalt school board, was in the chair, and on the platform, which was the first floor of the addition, were a large number of residents of the municipality, all the members of the school board, members of the council, the Victoria school board and other bodies.

Dr. Young reviewed the history of education in the district since the establishment of the old Craigflower schoolhouse, and the building of the first school in the then village, still standing near the entrance to the navy yard, up to the present plans for the enlarging of the fine building where they were gathered.

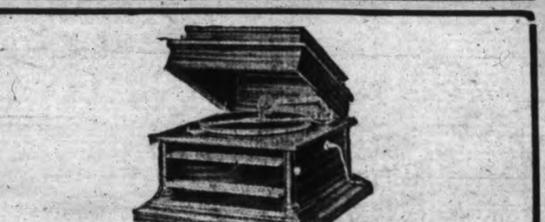

After the ceremony Dr. Young presented the prizes won by members of the high entrance class.

Sunday Selling.—The case of Dudley Lally, accused of a breach of the Lord's Day Act by selling two cigars to Detective Macdonald on a Sunday, came before the police magistrate again today, the chief justice having decided that the act is in force on the island. As the case was made a test case his worship considered that it would not be fair to impose a heavy fine and made the amount one dollar.

Habitue of Chinatown.—This morning the charge of vagrancy laid against Daisy Gaberell, alias Babe Lamond, was withdrawn and she was charged with keeping a house of ill-fame in Chinatown. Detective Turner proved the case and produced a box containing yeng-shee (optum pipe-scrappings), found in the house. The woman has lived in and about Chinatown for some years. She was fined $50 or one month in jail.

Told to Go to Work.—Two men were arrested shortly before midnight by Detectives Turner and Scilliano, locked in a room in the Empire hotel. The men had previously tried to enter another rooming house on Johnson street. Of the pair, Alfred Harrison and David Hutchison, the former had been released from the city jail earlier in the day. Hutchison is a longshoreman and works fairly steadily. The magistrate gave both men a chance to get to work.

Fairfield Methodist Sunday School.—The Fairfield Methodist Sunday School, corner Fairfield road and Moss streets, will hold its annual rally tomorrow, at 2.30 p. m. An interesting programme of suitable music will be given, also an address by Rev. A. E. Hetherington, of Columbian College. A pleasant and instructive time may be looked for. The Sunday school is only a little more than a year old, and has had a phenomenal growth, the attendance last Sunday nearing the 300 mark. The church is being decorated for the occasion, and a cordial invitation is being extended to anyone interested in the work to be present.

Sues for Commission.—A suit has been entered in the supreme court by Dr. A. R. Baker, formerly of Victoria and now of Vancouver, for the payment of one-fourth of a commission of $200,000 which he alleges is due to him in connection with the sale of the property of the B. C. Breweries, Limited. The action is directed against Robert Kelly, Richard Marpole and Clarence Marpole, and Dr. Baker sets forth that he secured an option on this property at the request of Mr. Kelly, which resulted in the sale of the business for $2,300,000. He alleges that Clarence Marpole received a cheque for about $500,000 but that he has never received his share of the commission.

Sues for Teeth.—A lawsuit of a somewhat unusual nature came on for hearing before Judge Lampan in county court yesterday afternoon. This was for $25 sued for as the value of a set of teeth belonging to Mrs. Connell and lost while she was a patient at the Provincial Royal Jubilee hospital. These had been removed while she was undergoing a slight operation but in some way disappeared. Three nurses testified to the teeth having been placed on a table at the bedside and evidence was given of the thoroughness of the search made for them afterwards. His honor adjourned the case for the submission of authorities by the counsel engaged—J. E. Brandon for the plaintiff and H. B. Robertson for the hospital—as to the responsibility of the institution for the belongings of patients.

DIRTY WEATHER OFF COAST DELAYS LINER

Empress of Russia Ran Into Gale; Light List of Saloon Passengers

Just as the big C. P. R. liner Empress of Russia, Capt. Beetham, was making the land last evening, on her way from the Orient, she ran into a heavy southeast gale which was accompanied by nasty rain showers. The dirty weather outside caused a slight delay in the white liner's arrival here, and it was 10 o'clock this morning before her mooring lines had been heaved taut and she was brushing her starboard side against the piles of Pier 2.

Had the Russia not met the bad weather off the coast last evening she would most likely have equalled her trans-Pacific record. As it was, Capt. Beetham said this morning that his command was nine days and ten hours from Yokohama to William Head, five hours behind the magnificent mark she set on her maiden voyage.

The Russia had splendid weather right across the Pacific. It was not until she was almost in sight last night that she encountered the worst part of the voyage. The wind started to breeze up from the southeast and a heavy sea was stirred up, which caused the Empress to roll considerably. The wind increased steadily during the night until it was blowing a whole gale. Drizzling rain squalls fell at frequent intervals. So dirty did the weather become that it was necessary to slow down the great engines of the ocean giant. The Russia lost about four and a half hours as a result of the gale.

Missed Typhoon Weather. It was expected that the sea-going qualities of the new Empress would have been tried out by the fierce typhoon weather which swept the China coast several weeks ago. Capt. Beetham, however, said today that the Russia escaped the bad storms, as they had blown themselves out just before the white liner entered the sea. On both passages across the Oriental waters the steamship was favored with splendid weather for fast steaming and the runs between the different ports of call were made ahead of schedule time.

Even saloon passengers were brought to this side of the Pacific by the Empress, there being only thirty-five all told. In steerage, there was a big crowd of Chinese, of which 186 disembarked at this port. About 257 are continuing on the Russia to Vancouver. The holds of the liner are filled with Oriental merchandise, and the strong-room contains a shipment of silk worth several million dollars.

The saloon passengers who arrived on the Russia were as follows: Mrs. A. J. S. Levey, A. M. Lester, C. J. McNeely, Mrs. McNeely, B. Molnar, W. P. Morris, Mrs. Morris, Miss M. Morris, Miss E. Morris, A. A. Moss, G. Nagata, Bishop L. H. Roots, A. L. Savage, R. B. Wigglesworth, H. P. Bagley, Lieut. F. L. Brown, Lieut. A. G. B. Buchanan, H. W. S. Carter, S. Crofts, George de Zwickowski, G. M. George de Zwickowski, W. A. Dowley, Mrs. W. R. Foote and three children, A. J. Gibson and child, Z. Hara.

KEEMUN REACHES U. K. ON HER "LAST TRIP"

Blue Funnel Liner Leaves Liverpool-Puget Sound Run After Many Years

Finally the old Blue Funnel liner Keemun, Capt. Conradi, has completed her last trip in the Liverpool-Puget Sound service, and will never again visit this coast. For two years announcements were made every time the Keemun came into port that she was on her last trip, but as soon as she would reach Liverpool the owners would decide to send her out once more. Shipping men here began to consider the last trip as a joke, but now the old trader has finished her duties in the service which links the United Kingdom with this coast.

The Keemun is the last of the older class of Blue Funnel ships to disappear from this route. She is being replaced by the steamship Teucer, one of the twin-mast ships. When the traffic over this route began to assume large proportions several years ago the heads of the company decided to construct several new ships for the run and withdraw the smaller vessels. The Tallyho was the first of the new liners to arrive, and she replaced the Oanfa. The Ixion followed and the Ningchow said farewell to this service. Now the Keemun, has at last gone and a more-up-to-date and faster ship has replaced her.

Capt. Conradi intended to retire from the sea earlier than this, but he decided to remain until his ship was withdrawn. Consequently he had to wait longer than he expected to. Capt. Conradi and his ship were like boom friends. They had been shipmates together so long that the grey-haired veteran of the sea hated to hand his command over to another master. The Keemun had been operating in this service for many years before she made her last trip. The trade between this coast and the United Kingdom outran the older ships, and in order to retain the business the smaller-carriers had to be withdrawn. It is likely that the Keemun may be operated from Liverpool to the Orient or run out of the Mersey to Australia.

The Keemun reached London on her last trip on Thursday, according to telegraphic advices received here yesterday.

TWO SCHOONERS LONG THOUGHT LOST, FOUND

Hattie B. Reaches Nome Safe and Sound; Wasp Wrecked; All Saved

Seattle, Sept. 27.—Wrecked in Debring Sea, somewhere between the mouths of the Kuskokwim and Yukon rivers, but with all on board saved, was the fate of the 15-ton power schooner Wasp, which left the Kuskokwim for Nome, August 24, after taking a party of government officials from Nome to Bethel, Hooper Bay and Quinhagak. News of the wreck came in a dispatch this morning from St. Michael, sent by Superintendent A. N. Evans of the western district of Alaska schools. This dispatch conveyed information that the Wasp, which for weeks had been anxiously looked for, had delivered her passengers and all her cargo of supplies on the Kuskokwim, and that the crew had been saved.

Nome, Sept. 27.—The schooner Hattie B., which was supposed to have been blown ashore in the Arctic, arrived in Nome yesterday. The fact that the northwest gales drove the vessel to shelter for five days before she could proceed to Kotzebue verifies the reported wreck of the trading schooner Transit, which occurred five miles south of Point Barrow.

The Hattie B. reports that the schooners Mary Sachs and Alaska, of the Stefansson expedition, were trying to force their way northward through the ice, and that the Polan Bear, bearing the Louis Lane expedition, and the Elvira and the North Star, are sheltered in the mouth of the Somer river east of Flaxman Island, waiting for the ice to move and make a lead to the open Arctic.

Nothing has been heard of the trading schooner Delvedere, which was en route from Wrangell Island with Stefansson's supplies.

PAVING OPERATIONS

Arrangements have been made with Mineral Rubber Company; Council Business for Monday.

Arrangements have been completed by the city officials by which the paving of Gorge road will be followed up by finishing the east side of Douglas street.

Similar terms have been made with the Canadian Mineral Rubber Company as in the Gorge road case, and the work will proceed on the same footing, the city doing the under-ground work, and the company surfacing. Work will proceed immediately.

When the city council meets on Monday the council will have to deal with the suspension of the city clerk, for the third occasion this year by the mayor, this time on the ground of breach of the by-law governing the department. Mayor Morley has notice of a motion to appoint Mr. Bradley as acting city clerk in the interval, the decision of which will depend upon the action of the council on the letter of suspension.

Another matter laid over for action affects the employment of aliens at Sooke Lake and Humpback. There is expected to be a pretty lively debate on the subject.

The amendment of the building by-law is to be taken up and the Victoria Laborers' Protective union will ask for a mass meeting to be called to protest against the increase in the British Columbia Electric Railway Company's fares.

WHISKY HOLDS ITS VICTIMS.

Until Released by Wonderful Samaria Prescription.

Liquor sets up inflammation and irritation of the stomach and weakens the nerves. The steady or periodical (aper) drinker is often forced to drink even against his will by his unnatural physical condition.

Samaria Prescription stops the craving, steadies the nerves, builds up the general health and makes drink actually distasteful and nauseous. It is tasteless and odorless and can be given with or without the knowledge of the patient.

Thousands of Canadian homes have been saved from misery and disgrace by some devoted wife, mother or daughter through this wonderful Canadian remedy. The money formerly wasted in drink has restored happiness, home comforts, education and respect to the families formerly in sad and deplorable condition.

Read the following, one of the numerous unsolicited testimonials received:

"I can never repay you for your remedy. It is worth more than life to me. My husband has been offered liquor several times, but would not touch it. He said it had no charm for him now. My God's choice blessing ever rest on you and yours are my prayers ever. No one knows it but those who have tried it. As soon as I can I will see others that I know would give anything to stop their husbands from drink. I will give them your address."

"Mrs. K., Dewinton, Alta." (Name withheld on request.)

Now, if you know of any family needing this remedy, tell them about it. If you have any friend or relative who has formed or is forming the drink habit, help him to release himself from its awful clutches. Samaria Prescription is used by physicians and hospitals.

A FREE TRIAL PACKAGE of Samaria Prescription with booklet, giving full particulars, testimonials, price, etc., will be sent absolutely free and postpaid in plain sealed package to anyone asking for it and mentioning this paper. Correspondence sent strictly confidential. Write to-day, The Samaria Remedy Co., Dept. 75, 145 Mutual street, Toronto, Canada. Also for sale at Hall & Co.'s drug store, corner Yates and Douglas streets, Victoria.

TENDERS AT CHRISTMAS

Contractors to Be Invited for Figures on New Hospital in About Three Months; Directors Meet.

Tenders for the new Jubilee Hospital building will be called about Christmas, according to a statement made by the architect, Loring P. Rixford, of San Francisco, at the meeting of the directors last evening. Mr. Rixford undertook to figure on the different classes of material for the facade, the various advantages of brick, stone, and terra cotta being discussed by the members of the board.

The estimated cost of the buildings is $399,840. The structure is to include the following buildings. Administration building, two public ward buildings, the top story of each to be used for semi-private patients, private ward buildings, laundry and power house and service building. These buildings will accommodate 70 private, 50 semi-private and 100 public patients. This added to the present male medical, male surgical, female medical and Strathcona wards, will bring the total capacity to 250 patients. The estimate of cost includes a complete heating plant, but does not include provision for power.

The first work will be to build the wards, upon the completion of one of which the patients will be removed from the present children's ward. This building will then be used for domestic service purposes. The new administration block with operating suite will then be built on the site of the present building. The other buildings will then be added by degrees as money is available.

FOR ISLAND MOTORISTS

Stories and Figures for Those Interested in AUTOMOBILES; Whether for Pleasure or Business Purposes

LESS SPEED WILL BE SOUGHT IN FUTURE

Fire Engineers Favor Motor Tractors of Strength Rather Than Record Pace

The tendency of leading men on this continent who are interesting themselves in the application of motor traction to fire engines and other apparatus is undoubtedly in favor of reducing the speed to a limit of safety. There have been several serious accidents reported recently, in which either the apparatus has come to grief with fatal results to firemen or the hurrying vehicle has brought catastrophe to wagons and buggies as well as to rapidly moving automobiles.

Fire Chief Davis, on his return from an extensive tour of the eastern parts of Canada and the United States, says that the majority of fire chiefs favor a reduction of the speed to about 25 miles an hour. He found however in Detroit a special squad wagon, which acts as a supplement to the companies in operation at any outbreak, travelling at 50 miles an hour, and that in a city which has exceptionally busy streets.

The wear and tear on apparatus which travels at a great speed is excessive, and as these factors must be considered in purchasing material which is always expensive, the result will probably be to reduce the speed materially in future. From the standpoint of cost, however, in the motorizing of fire departments there is no doubt that the advent of the fore-drive motor tractor will affect a revolution in the industry, although as yet it is largely in an experimental stage. It is estimated this form of chassis would cost the cost 50 per cent, which of course would mean an enormous saving in the alteration from horse-driven vehicles. A good deal has yet to be done in the standardization of the motor tractor, which still feels the effect of experiment by the leading manufacturers of fire apparatus.

Chief Davis brings the welcome news that the new tractor for No. 2 engine, which has the steepest grades in the city to negotiate, is now well on the way to construction at Walkerville, and is already in the paint shop.

A CHURCH CAR

Automobile Fitted Up as Chapel Begins Its Travels in Texas; Convenient Arrangement.

Advices from Brownsville, Tex., tell of the initial services held in that city by priests aboard the motor chapel "St. Peter," the only automobile church in America, which is on a two-year trip through Texas in a movement to carry the Gospel to sparsely settled regions.

From a radius of 50 miles members of the church gather to participate in these unique outdoor exercises under auspices of the Roman Catholic Church Extension Society, which has pressed the motor chapel into service to supplant the missionary work now being done with railroad chapels. On the initial monthly trip the chapel will be in charge of Rev. Emanuel B. Ledvina, of Chicago, vice-president and general secretary of the society, who designed the body; Rev. H. F. Constantineau, of San Antonio, provincial of the Oblate Fathers; and Father Yves Tymen, of Roma, Star county, Texas, who is chaplain of the motor chapel. As new missions are reached by the car, the personnel of those in charge will change. The motor chapel is fitted on a 3 1/2-ton chassis, and can be converted into a church by opening the rear and sides. When travelling, it serves as a living room for the priests who are in charge. So fully equipped is the chapel that a complete cathedral service can be held, and yet, when it is closed for travelling, it has all the conveniences of a first-class train.

FINDS CAVE AMONG CALIFORNIAN WILDS

Motorist Discovers Natural Feature More Wonderful Than Kentucky Cave

Motorists speak of a wonderful cave in Calaveras county, California, between Angels Camp and the Calaveras Big Trees. This cave is situated just a mile from the little town of Murphy, and seems to drop straight down into the earth. Steps have been cut into the stone, and after reaching the bottom of this flight of steps there are various chambers that can be entered and all sorts of stalactite formations and other interesting features. There are lakes, one of which has never been proved to have a bottom, although they have sounded it repeatedly. There are caverns that have not been explored because of the fact that there is no manner in which to reach their interior.

Tourists are taken by guides through the cave—in through one entrance and out through another. It is strange that but few persons in California know of the existence of this cave, which is really as great and interesting as Mammoth Cave of Kentucky. The Calaveras cave is five or six miles from the railroad which ends at Angels Camp. Lack of railroad facilities is one of the reasons why this cave is not better known.

WIRE WHEELS USED MORE NOW IN STATES

Six Reasons Advanced for Their Superiority; Put to Hard Test

Wire wheels equipment for automobiles is making great progress in the United States. Within the last 18 months about a score of America's leading automobile manufacturers have announced that wire wheels will be put on their product either as optional or special equipment.

Some time ago the prediction was made that the season of 1914 would see a strong trend toward the type of wheels used in Europe. The forecast has not missed its mark is shown by the large number of machines which are rolling on wire equipment.

There are six reasons advanced by advocates of the wire wheel for its adoption. They are: Saving of weight, increased safety, longer life, better riding qualities, improved appearance and growing scarcity of suitable wood for artillery wheels.

In Europe, which is the home of the wire wheel, that type of equipment is in general use because of its merits as a tire saver in addition to its great strength to resist side slips.

The manufacture of wire-wheels in quantity began in England in 1905. The wheels embodied the well-known principle of dishing; that is, making the outer set of spokes very much coned, the inner set nearly straight, and so arranging the tangent that the inner spokes took nearly all the drive.

This type of wheel proved its efficiency in the Gordon-Bonnet trials in Ireland many years ago.

An illustration of their strength was given in 1905, when Clifford Erpe, at Ormond Beach, Fla., drove the last 60 miles of the 100-mile race with one rear tire and nine spokes missing, at an average speed of 59 miles an hour, winning the race.

As the wheel business became a factor in the trade, many arguments arose as to the superiority of wire over the wood, or artillery type of wheel. A series of tests was made. The method of testing was by steady pulls to find out the lateral as well as the vertical strain. These showed such overwhelming superiority of wire over wood wheels that the makers of the latter have denounced this method of testing, saying it did not represent anything like the actual conditions to which a wheel was subjected while on the car.

The impact test was then suggested. Wire wheels showed up much better than the first-class wood wheels. When weight was taken into consideration the difference was even more favorable to the wire equipment. An equal number of blows was struck with the pendulum bob weighing 450 pounds, resulting in the complete destruction of the wood wheel, while the wire one was still in condition to be used.

Tire economy plays a vital part in the value of the wire wheel. In the first place it is from 30 to 50 per cent lighter. The excess weight of the wood wheel as compared with the wire wheel, thereby inducing that flywheel effect, at high speeds producing a gyroscopic action, giving very little relief to the tire when it comes into contact with road obstructions.

ADJUSTING LIGHTS.

"Electric lighting systems on automobiles are the illuminating systems of the day," says a lighting authority. "While some cars still use gas and oil for illumination, yet they are practically so few that they cannot be considered in discussing modern lighting systems on the automobile.

"Few owners realize the value of properly adjusting their lamps. Practically all the present electric lamps can be adjusted, or more properly speaking, focused, in the factory.

ST. LOUIS HAS MANY.

The automobile equipment of the city of St. Louis, Mo., is rapidly growing. The present equipment includes thirty-five runabouts, five touring cars, eight ambulances, four fire engines and four service trucks used by the fire department, and the police patrol wagons, and twenty-nine machines will be added to the various departments in the near future.

TAHITI UP TO DATE.

Sightseers in Tahiti no longer have to go donkey back to view the scenery back of the port of Papeete. A motor truck has just gone into commission, carrying passengers while steamships lie over in the harbor and hauling coconuts during the spells between boat landings.

DEMAND EQUIPMENT.

Gov. Baldwin, of Connecticut, has signed an amendment to the present automobile law which demands two powerful brakes for all cars of more than 10-horsepower, mufflers for all motor cars and signals, which can produce an abrupt sound as a sign of danger and which must not be abused.

DYING FROM GALL-STONES

Doctors Said Only An Operation Could Save His Life—"Fruit-a-tives" Enabled Him To Pass Nearly 200 Gall-Stones.

J. B. HARDING, Esq.
46 Grove Ave., Toronto, Ont., Jan. 10th, 1913.

"I suffered untold agonies from GALL-STONES for the past three years, and tried many doctors without getting relief. I also paid $5.00 for one bottle of medicine which was useless. At times the pain from these gall-stones was so great that I lost consciousness, and my condition was desperate. I was quite satisfied that I was dying and the doctors said I must be operated upon.

"During one of these very severe, acute attacks, I was given some 'FRUIT-A-TIVES', and after taking a short treatment of this remedy, I passed gall-stones over an inch in length, and as many as one hundred and fifty or two hundred in number. 'FRUIT-A-TIVES' was the only thing that would relieve my pain. They are the greatest medicine in the world, and if there is anyone in Canada, or anywhere else, that suffers from gall-stones, I say 'Let them take 'Fruit-a-tives' and be cured.'

"If this testimonial will further the good work of 'Fruit-a-tives', publish it with my full authority."
"Are you wondering how 'Fruit-a-tives'—a medicine made from fruit juices, can cure Gall-stones? We will tell you. The Gall bladder is the reservoir for holding the Gall, or bile, secreted by the liver. If there is insufficient bile, then the bile in the Gall bladder is thick and casts firm stones. When the liver is weak, it secretes very little bile, and then the Gall bladder is partially filled with a thick jelly-like mass of bile and thus forms into lumps or stones. 'Fruit-a-tives' stimulates the liver to secrete more bile, and this increased bile softens the Gall-stones and by overfilling the Gall bladder, forces the passage of the stones through the Gall duct—and thus cures the disease.

"'Fruit-a-tives' is the only medicine in the world made of fruit juices. By a wonderful process, the medicinal properties of certain fruits are greatly intensified—then valuable tonics and antiseptics are added and the whole made into the pleasant tasting tablets known in every section of Canada as 'Fruit-a-tives.'"
50c a box, 6 for $2.50; trial size 25c. At dealers or sent on receipt of price by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

WILL PUBLISH WORK

Pathfinder Wilby Has Book on Trans-Canada Trip in the Press.

The memory of T. W. Wilby's wonderful trip to the Pacific coast, in which he completed his remarkable tour of Vancouver Island, will be fresh in the minds of readers of this page, and they will naturally welcome the considered judgment of the motorist on his journey from Halifax to this coast.

Mr. Wilby's book, which bears the title, "A Motor Tour Across Canada," will be published in October by Bell & Cockburn, of Toronto, and will be illustrated with 32 pictures. He brings the scene vividly before the reader, and blends with considerable skill both narrative and history. Naturally the betterment of Canadian highways is dealt with at some length, and in that regard he will have the hearty cooperation of the various Highway Associations.

Mr. Wilby makes an appeal for the greater encouragement in Canada of the literary man and the artist. When he was entertained by the Victoria Automobile Association at dinner last

AN ISLAND SCENE

The above view shows a typical scene along the stage road between Duncan and Cowichan lake. The vegetation is prolific, and a variety of wild life inhabits the undergrowth among the brambles, wild rose and fern. Deer may often be seen making their timid passage to the creeks which fall into the lake.

October he showed his capacity as a man of culture and eloquence, and his impressions will be heartily welcomed. He is the joint author of "On the Trail to Sunset," and this further literary venture will be something more than the hurried impressions gained from the observation car of a train like most of the stories of transcontinental trips across Canada in recent years.

10,102 Automobiles in Washington State; Increase of 3,381 over 1912.

There are 10,102 automobiles with an approximate valuation of $9,128,000 in the state of Washington, according to tax lists filed with the state board of equalization by the county boards. King County leads the list, being credited with 2,490 machines, valued at $1,229,590, or an average of $493.97 for each one. Spokane County ranks second with 1,542 cars worth $855,360, and an average of $553.61, while Pierce County ranks third, with 1,206 motor vehicles worth $571,159, or an average of $469.72. Wahkiakum County wins hands down in the baby class, being credited with only one machine, the value of which is placed at $209. The actual valuation of all automobiles in the state at assessment time last March, as calculated on the same basis as in 1912 approximates $9,128,000, the assessed valuation being $3,871,278, which is an increase of $948,407 over 1912. On March 1 there were 10,102 automobiles in the state, according to the assessors' records, an increase of 3,381 over 1912.

1914 MODEL SOME

New Cars Have Improved Features; Some of Items Noticed in the Latest Arrivals.

The manufacturers of the Detroit Electric car, for which the Wood Motor Company is the local agent, are determined not to be surpassed in their wares, and have placed a 1914 model on the market which is, possibly more beautiful, without doubt more mechanically perfect, than their previous ones. Even with their added features the price has been reduced, this having been made possible through increased production and factory efficiency. The 1914 model is exceptionally comprehensive. It covers practically every type of vehicle that a buyer could possibly desire.

Stopping the sporty student, who was having a hot time scorching over the speedway with a fast bunch, the country constable brought him before the judge.

"Hi-m!" growled the justice. "You were here yesterday, and it cost you ten. College student, aren't you?"

"Yes, your honor, I have had three years of culture."

"And, therefore, you should be re-fined."

"I am," said the defendant, as hopes of escaping with his pocketbook un-injured arose.

"You are!" retorted the judge. "Fifty dollars!"—Stanford Chaparral.

JONES WOULD DROP PORTLAND TEAM OUT

Favors Two Clubs in Seattle; Bees Again Beaten at Vancouver; Score 2 to 0

Fielder Jones has a new plan to keep the Northwest League intact, and it is now said that he will advocate two Seattle clubs for the Northwest League next year. Just how the league owners will take this is a mystery. For one thing the new scheme will reduce the expenses of the Northwest League greatly, while it will give Seattle continuous baseball. Jones does not think that Portland patronizes Northwest League baseball. There is little doubt but that the coast clubs will agree to the Northwest team remaining in the Rose City, but Jones favors two clubs in Seattle because of the increased attendance and income attached to such a club. Jones further hinted that should the league drop Portland that it will have to select a new president as Fielder Jones would not think of moving from that city.

Delmas' Error Costly. Manager Bert Delmas booted one in the third yesterday that allowed two runs to come across and the Beavers took the fifth game of the series at Vancouver yesterday, the final score being 2 to 0. Hall and Fletcher twined nice ball, the former getting eleven strikeouts, while he held the Bees to four scattered hits. Vancouver hit Fletcher safely eight times, but most of these bingles were scattered. Score: Vancouver—A. H. K. H. P. O. A. E. Seattle—Seattle won from Tacoma by a score of 4-1. The game was a sharp contest between Dell, who was in the box, and Giro, and the visitors lost in the second inning when Giro failed under a rally and allowed three tallies. Dell held Tacoma to five hits. Score—R. H. E. Seattle 4 7 1 Tacoma 1 6 0 Batteries—Dell and Cadman; Giro and Harris.

Spokane—Portland hit Douglas regularly and hard, while Mays pitched fine ball for the visitors, and they landed a 4-0 contest. Score—R. H. E. Portland 3 12 7 Spokane 0 9 0 Batteries—Mays and Williams; Douglas and Altman.

CUP DONATED FOR AMATEUR BASEBALL

T. P. McConnell Will Give Seniors a Valuable Trophy; Northwestern All-Stars

To boost amateur ball in Victoria and on the island, Mr. T. P. McConnell, secretary and chief stock holder of the Victoria Baseball Club, has offered to donate a suitable cup to the City Amateur Baseball League for the season of 1914. This trophy will become the absolute property of the club winning the championship and Mr. McConnell's generosity will undoubtedly be rewarded with a boom in baseball next season. This year the league did not get started until late, but George Sedney, manager of the St. Francis Club, champions for 1913, expects to introduce a triple schedule next year that will render amateur ball for about five months next year.

All-star teams are now the rage, and every sporting editor on the circuit is having his fling. Victoria makes a good showing in this selection, even if the Bees did not do better than fourth place. The fact that four of the club graduate to the majors this year, shows that there was considerable class in the Capital City club.

Times' Selection. Catchers—Konnik, Vancouver; Hannah, Spokane. Pitchers—Kantlehner, Victoria; Ingersoll, Vancouver; Schmutz, Vancouver; McGinnity, Tacoma; Kelly, Seattle. First base—McCarl, Spokane. Second base—Rawlings, Victoria. Short stop—Delmas, Victoria. Third base—Baiferot, Portland. Right field—Neighbors, Tacoma. Centre field—Kippert, Vancouver. Left field—Swain, Victoria.

ENGLAND IS LOSING ATHLETIC PRESTIGE

The Duke of Westminster in a public letter calls attention to the long list of sporting trophies and championships which England lost during the past fifteen years. He writes: "Polo, America; racquets, America; (singles), New Zealand; lawn tennis (Davis cup), America; court tennis, America (Jay Gould); boxing, America-France; billiards (English), Australia; swimming, America-Australia; Rugby football, South Africa-New Zealand; lacrosse, Canada; cycling, France-Germany; trotting horse, America; running horse, America; horse jumping, France-Russia; fencing, France; shooting (King's prize), Canada; skating, Sweden; snook and field athletics, America. "This is a tale of national disaster. Is England to do nothing to recover her ancient supremacy as the mother of sport? The King is both a man of business and a sportsman. As Prince of Wales on a memorable occasion, his momentous 'Wake up England' electrified an empire and gave an immense stimulus to commerce and industry. As our sovereign he now bids Britain to 'wake up' in sport and hopes that every effort will be made to ensure that the United Kingdom is represented by its best athletes at the Olympic Games in Berlin in 1916. We are in honor bound to go forward and do our level best to restore the lost prestige of a good sporting nation. But victory means efficient organization and training, and both cost money. "I confidently appeal to my fellow sportsmen to help me in getting the $500,000, for which a national appeal was made by Lord Grey, Lord Harris, Lord Rothschild, Lord Roberts, Lord Strathcona and myself as quickly as possible."

FAVORITES ENJOYED A SPLENDID DAY

Critic Only Real Surprise Yesterday at Willows; Polo Ponies in Feature Event

Only one long shot delivered yesterday at the Willows, though all of the winners paid two to one or better. The racing classed with the best seen here this season and the crowd was just as anxious to get up their coin on their favorites as ever. After such a heavy day's betting as that of Thursday, there was naturally a little falling off. Critic, in the fifth race, was the feature of the card, paying off at the rate of $40 to $2. The favorites had a pretty fair day, while fairly good prices were paid for the place and show tickets.

The crowd was a few hundred below that of the previous day, and never since the meet started has there been such a day for good things to go wrong. The best of information was useless. Previous performances didn't count, the horses enjoying a splendid reversal of form. Critic was ridden out to win from Lambertha, while Dr. J. B. Berry had to be whipped under the wire to stall off the rush of Belle of Iroquois, a 200 to 1 shot.

An added attraction was the polo pony race at catch weights, this event being taken down by the Gore-Langton entry from Cowichan. Cigarette won all by himself, with Lady Bird second and Lady M. third. There were seven of the regular purse events on the programme, the field being larger than on Thursday. The finishes were every bit as exciting and the remarkable showing of the outside choices added to the interest. A host of newcomers to the track were started and some of them showed enough speed to come under the wire at nice odds. Johnny Hayes had little difficulty in taking down the first event at six to one. Alto Loma, Mays, another long shot, being second, with Ruth Powers third. Russ Sand, the favorite, was a poor fourth.

Surprises Start Early. Right Little appeared to have no opposition in the second event, but the winner turned up in Cal Curn, a three-year-old gelding, owned by Trowbridge and Officer. Their entry had the class of the field and covered the five furlongs but a second slower than Father Stafford in establishing a mark for the track. Whitride S. came through when Orka Smile tired in the stretch and chalked up a win in the third. The Hong entry set the pace until the last furlong, when she wilted and had trouble landing second money from James Blackstock. Hill gave his mount a dandy ride and finished in

REMARKED ON THE SIDE

Northwestern League Season Closes To-morrow. Having passed through the most successful season since the organization of the league, Fielder Jones and his associates on the board of the Northwestern League must feel rather pleased at the success they have achieved. Not only has the league played better ball than in previous years, but it is growing more substantial every day and is now one of the finest Class B ball leagues in existence. Three new ball parks out of six clubs is the record that the Northwestern has hung up for 1913, and at the present there is only our own dinky little ball-yard that is not up to the margin in every respect. There are hopes that Victoria will seek a new home next season, which will complete a compact circuit. Every club in the league, with the exception of Spokane, has prospered and the Indians give promise of being a money-maker next year. Even better baseball is planned for next year, and Bob Brown's champions will have to look to their laurels when the 1914 schedule starts.

Joe Lally Now Mentioned for Victoria Lacrosse. Now that Con. Jones has dropped out of lacrosse, the Westminster champions are anxiously awaiting Victoria's decision for a lacrosse club next year. With the V. A. C. in the pro. ranks a third club is necessary in Victoria, if the league is to make money. The Royals realize better than anybody else that it was only the bitter rivalry between Vancouver and Westminster that kept the game going here and now that this has died out, new blood is needed to awaken interest. Victoria supplies this interest and a three-colored organization should be a money-maker. A Vancouver exchange prints an extract from a letter of Joe Lally's in which the Cornwall lacrosse impresario states that he will visit the Coast in February, when he hopes to look into the prospects of a club in the capital. It would boom sport here, and with either Joe Lally or Jimmy Murphy in charge, should prove a good investment for sportsmen who will give Victoria a capable team.

SNODGRASS AND DOYLE INJURED

Brooklyn, Sept. 27.—The supporters of the New York Giants in the world's series got a double shock yesterday when they learned that Captain Larry Doyle had been injured in a motor car accident, and outfielder Fred Snodgrass had sprung a "Charley horse" in the game at Ebbett's Field. Neither is likely to play again for a week, and both may be out of the series with the Athletics for the world's championship. Doyle received his injury as he was driving home in the car he won as the best all-round National League player in 1912. Pitcher Fromme, of the Giants, was a passenger. Doyle became bewildered by the fog and steered the machine into a tree. He was thrown out on his right shoulder. Fromme escaped with only a slight shaking up. Snodgrass opened the game yesterday with a single to centre, and slowed up turning first. He limped around a minute, and then retired in favor of Cooper.

Golden Agnes, Tom Murphy and Elgin finished the sixth race as they were carded on the programme, the trio being well played for all three positions. Eddie Mott and Commerce were fancied, but the pair did not last and the leaders finished as above. Golden Agnes had to race against the others, while Tom Murphy also ran third place. Gerds and Flying were favored for the seventh, but Southern Gold went out and won in convincing style. Flying took part in the running for half the route but failed to stand the pace, dropping out of the money positions in the stretch drive. Jack Laxson made up a lot of ground towards the close.

Starter Tribe did not find it necessary to discipline a boy, and he got the horses away in splendid time. There were no accidents and the day's sport could not have been more successful.

AS SEEN FROM THE PRESS BOX

Barham has now lost three games this year. This young fellow Harstad appears to have something on the ball, from his showing against the Bees. Swain will join the Sacramento Club to-day in San Francisco, and break in at once. It takes Emil Frisk to hammer out the doubles. The veteran got a brace against Barham. Rube Marquard says that the Giant's pitching will win the pennant for the Gothamites. Tony Walsh is still lame, and is playing right field for the Vancouver Club. That Konetchy, the great first baseman, will be traded is the statement positively made by Mrs. Britton, owner of the St. Louis Cardinals. It is believed that the New York Club will get him, and give a substantial sum in cash in addition to players.

QUIMET'S PARENTS WERE CANADIANS

Brookline, Sept. 27.—Francis Quimet, the youthful hero of the golf finals, is nearing twenty-one, and was born in Brookline, where he attended school until a year or two ago. His parents are French-Canadians, who moved from Montreal to Brookline some years ago. Quimet is at present employed by a Boston business concern, but when he was attending Public and High school here he played and caddied on the Country Club course, which he knows like a book. It is this knowledge which helped him to overcome the advantage of experience and age possessed by his competitors in the play-off round.

COLTS WERE DEFEATED BY AUSTRALIAN TEAM

Twenty-Two Young Victoria Cricketers Put Up Good Showing Against Visitors

The Victoria Colts put up a good performance yesterday when they dismissed the strong Australian eleven for 223 runs.

In batting, however, the Colts were not so strong, and in two innings could only score 177 runs.

Finlayson bowled well for the Colts and had the best figures of the day. His five wickets cost 109 runs and he claimed fine batsmen like Cody and Bardale clean bowled—a meritorious performance indeed for a youngster.

Several hundred race followers from Vancouver came over this morning to take in the week-end racing.

Not Contrary to Law. Chief Justice Henderson, in rendering judgment on a case that came before him on June 12, 1912, stated that the pari-mutual or Totolizer system of wagering was not contrary to the provisions of the Criminal Code of Canada.

With regard to the club it may be added that there are forty shareholders at the present, and that no member is allowed to hold more than three shares.

Following the example of the Toronto Jockey Club the local directors decided upon the exclusive use of the mutuel machines in the belief that it was for the betterment of the sport, yet without prejudice to bookmaking.

Daubert is Class of National Batsmen; Major League Averages to Date

Chicago, Sept. 27.—Twelve points to the good, Ty Cobb has entered the home stretch in the race for the batting championship of the American League.

Topped only by Earl Yngling, the Brooklyn pitcher, and pinch hitter, Jake Daubert of the same club, is practically leader in the National League with an average of .359, five points behind the mark set by Yngling in 35 games.

Cravath is still leading home-run hitter with 18, Luderus of Philadelphia, being next with 17, and Sailer of Chicago third with 14.

TWO WOMEN TESTIFY

What Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Did For Their Health—Their own Statements Follow.

Haliburton, P. E. I.—"I had a doctor examine me and he said I had falling of the womb, so I have been taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it has done me a lot of good. All the bearing-down pains have vanished. I have gained ten pounds in weight, the discharge is all gone, and I feel better than I have for a long time. I think any woman is foolish to suffer as I did for the sake of a few dollars.

"You can use my letter as a testimonial. It may encourage other poor women who suffer as I did to use your Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. GEO. COLLETT, Haliburton, Lot 7, P. E. I.

Read What This Woman Says:
 New Moorefield, Ohio.—"I take great pleasure in thanking you for what your vegetable Compound has done for me. I had bearing down pains, was dizzy and weak, had pains in lower back and could not be upon my feet long enough to get a meal. As long as I laid on my back I would feel better, but when I would get up those bearing down pains would come back, and the doctor said I had female trouble. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was the only medicine that helped me and I have been growing stronger ever since I commenced to take it. I hope it will help other suffering women as it has me. You can use this letter."—Mrs. CASSIE LLOYD, New Moorefield, Clark Co., Ohio.

CANADIAN CELEBRITIES
MADAME BENITA LEMAR.

In September, 1912, there was a tea-singing concert in the Methodist church at Pickering, a quiet little rusticating town twenty miles east of Toronto. The programme was a total innovation; in a quiet way almost a sensation. A cultured lady did most of it, gowned elegantly but simply, singing to the little audience in French and German, while they listened and wondered what it was all about. Village lads and lasses nudged one another that it was the finest thing of its kind—whatever kind it might be—that ever happened in any such town as Pickering.

Many were the whisperings. "You know she's a very fine singer."

"She's an aristocrat."

"Oh—lives out here on a farm."

"English—her husband is uncle to a lord, and he lives there."

"No, no—she's American."

"But she doesn't act like it."

"We'll see her pure English."

"Oh well, she's all right, anyway. What's that—she's singing—something by—"

"Debussy—Oh I don't know what that is."

The singer was Madame Lemar, who in domestic life is Mrs. Somers-Cooks, which, as may be surmised, is an English name, though the lady is American by birth, English by association, cosmopolitan in her travels, and now Canadian by residence.

She lives on a farm; not the kind with the strawstack at the barn, yet a big real farm of several hundred acres, owned and occupied by her husband, an English gentleman, and by Lord Somers his nephew. And they live together, Lord Somers being unmarried, on this unusual farm just outside of Pickering town. Several days in the week, however, Madame Lemar spends in the city, where she teaches singing. Sometimes she sings in public, which she has done not only in Canada and the United States, but in the fashionable halls of England, in Paris and in old Berlin.

At once you have all the elements of novelty and of the unexpected. For marrying the uncle of a British lord may be even more adventurous, and is sure to be much less hackneyed than an American heiress wedded to a hearse. She was just a western girl, far out in the American plains country, when she met and married Mr. Somers-Cooks—though before that she had been strangely absorbed in some phases of the art of singing.

Now there is nothing in the least conventional about this charming Anglicized American lady living in Canada. Neither the least symptom of caricature. In spite of her almost incongruous experience, she lives quietly, happily and artistically on that pleasant big farm. She knows the intricacies of English fashionable life, for she has had in it, been part of it, and yet much of an observer, because being addicted to a branch of art she was always somewhat aloof from the mere boredom of aristocracy.

At first and for a good while after her arrival in England, being an American, Madame Lemar was looked at a good bit through longnettes. Again, being American, she had the quick intuition, and she had the humor to notice how odd it all was. Being an old center, she was subjected to a degree of criticism which she might have escaped had she been only an heiress. Sometimes she sang more or less publicly to the very people to whose set her husband and his family belonged. Often she sang in drawing rooms, where her style of singing was much more suitable than in a large concert hall. And when she did, it was a good deal like being two or three people in one.

Her art was taken seriously by the critics. She herself for a time was looked at as a bit of curiosity. She was entirely devoid of mannerisms, and she took a passing interest in the lives of so many of the aristocracy in England. Much of it amused her far more than her own unconventional but always quiet ways entertained the no-better-favored people of none of the blattant brusquerie of the moneyed American. She did her best to fit into the regime. For the most part she succeeded. But she was always a bit of a puzzle to the nabobs whose mannerisms she never acquired, though never at a loss to match the best of their manners.

Indeed she often betrayed the wonder of a child at the passing show. Though she spent several years among the aristocracy, she never became quite naturalized. Often she took refuge from the artificiality of people in the reality of art. Her singing was a thing that kept her many a time from the weariest kind of half-amused ennui. And the more she sang the more she was wondered at by some of the smart set, who began to see that after all she had more of a purpose in life than just to be a mere contribution to the zany of fashionable life.

The madame's besetting passion was modern French songs, modern German songs, old English songs. But especially the modern French, and most especially Debussy. This was quite in her favor. Not every aristocracy could boast of a singer able to interpret the subtleties of this modern French writer of Impressionism. It was as though Lady Thus-and-so had suddenly discovered a genius for painting Impressionistic pictures or writing a new kind of love song.

Deservedly Madame Lemar came to rank as one of the most able interpreters of Debussy in the world. To-night she knows more Debussy songs than any other singer, not merely by rote and by note—but by temperament and insight. They are just about the oddest songs ever made. Hugo Wolf and Max Reger, two other besetments of the madame, are uncommonly plentiful. Debussy is much more common. But there is no shuddering, ghostly fragment of a weird, demi-semi-chromatic song by this French wizard that Madame Lemar cannot translate into a thing of beauty on the platform; or, better still, in a drawing-room.

Less than two years ago she came to

ORANGELILY
WOMEN CURED AT HOME
 Women's disorders always yield from the very beginning of the treatment to the mild but effective action of Orange Lily. Within two or three days after commencing its use the improvement becomes noticeable, and this improvement continues until the patient is completely cured. Orange Lily is an applied or local treatment, and acts directly on the womanly organs, removing the congestion, toning and strengthening the nerves, and restoring perfect circulation in the diseased parts. In order to convince all suffering women of the value of this remedy, I will send a 25-cent box, enough for ten days' treatment, absolutely FREE to each lady sending me her address. Mrs. FRANCES E.  A Cordial Invitation is Extended to the Public

Canada with her husband, simple in his tastes, and Lord Somers, yet unwearied by the hackneyed wiles of society; to the almost arcaic community just outside of Pickering town overlooking Lake Ontario, to a what rough landscape left by the Ontario farmer which by the aid of landscape gardener and with considerable hand labor of both Lord Somers and his uncle, is now being cultivated and combed into a patch of little England—in a democratic, simple way.

The madame kept up her singing. To be sure, though she had the best of complimentary notices from the critical English and continental press for her singing of modern songs, there was little vogue for that sort of thing in Canada. She joined the staff of a conservatory; gave some recitals, taught the art of interpretation—and wrestled with the prejudices of people who while they paid much respect to the madame's social connection and admiration of her art, still clung to the glamor of the Big Tone and the High C.

Canada pleases her immensely. She breathes here more freely than in England. She lives more quietly than she could in the United States. And with the background of a most unconventional, quite romantic life, she has still the prospect of doing what she wants to in art, untrammelled by the whims of society or the hobbies of musical faddists. In fact, when last fall she gave a recital in Toronto she deliberately left off her announcements any patronage list and, until the last moment, omitted to invite even the Lieutenant-Governor.

SKIN ITCHED AND BURNED

Pimples on Legs and Arms. Scratched and Made Sores. Kept from Sleeping. First Application of Cuticura Soap and Ointment Gave Great Relief. Cured in a Few Weeks.

Lachine Locks, Quebec.—"I had itching commencing with my legs and increasing gradually until it reached all parts of my body. There were small pimples on my legs and arms and the skin was red and inflamed all over the body and itched and burned so badly that I scratched and made sores. It caused me so much pain that it kept me from sleeping during entire nights. I was troubled with it for about two years.

"After having tried several remedies without success I used Cuticura Soap and Ointment and from the first application I felt a great relief. I continued the treatment taking warm baths with Cuticura Soap followed by the application of Cuticura Ointment, and at the end of a few weeks the trouble had disappeared completely and I was cured." (Signed) N. C. Boulet, May 27, 1912.

For red, rough, chapped and bleeding hands, itching, burning palms, shapeless nails and painful finger-ends, a one-night Cuticura treatment works wonders. Soak hands, on retiring, in hot water and Cuticura Soap. Dry, anoint with Cuticura Ointment, and wear old, loose gloves during the night. Cuticura Soap and Ointment are sold throughout the world. Liberal sample sold each mailed free with 25c. Postal note. Address: post card, Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., Dept. 423, Boston, U. S. A.

Tightens Her Skin—Loses Her Wrinkles

(From Social Mirror.)
 "I want to tell you how easily and quickly I got rid of my wrinkles," writes one of our correspondents. "While in London a friend, much envied because of her youth appearance, gave me a formula for a home-made preparation which has the effect of instantly tightening the skin, thus smoothing out wrinkles and furrows.

"The principal ingredient is powdered saxolite, which I found could be procured at drug stores here. An ounce of saxolite is dissolved in a half pint witch hazel. After bathing my face in this but once the transformation was so marvelous I looked years younger. Even the deep crow's feet were affected, as were the annoying creases about my neck. It seems difficult to believe that anything could produce results like these, but several to whom I recommended the remedy have been similarly helped, including an elderly lady whose cheeks had become quite baggy."

FIRST THINGS

The first passenger-railway in the world, the Stockton & Darlington line in England, was opened for traffic 88 years ago to-day. A train of 34 vehicles, making a gross load of about 90 tons, drawn by one engine, driven by the immortal George Stephenson, passed over the life, with a signalman on horseback in advance. Conservative people had predicted that horrible accidents must result from collisions, and the horseback courier was sent ahead to clear the way. This plan, which it seems to involve an excess of caution, might still be profitably adopted by certain American railroads. The slow passenger train moved off at a speed of ten miles an hour, and at favorable part of the line at attained a speed of 15 miles per hour. A month later the company inaugurated a daily service over its line. The coach, appropriately called the "Experiment," carried six passengers inside and as many as twenty on top. The passenger passenger train moved off at a speed of 25 miles of track, constructed of wrought-iron "fishbelly" rails.

SOOKE WATER BY-LAW

FINANCIAL STATEMENT

The original By-law for the construction of the Sooke Lake water scheme was for $1,500,000, though it was expected at the time that the eventual cost would be $2,000,000; in this two millions the amount estimated for land was $200,000. Cost of land to date is as follows:

Land at Sooke Lake	$244,513.03
Right-of-way	27,970.07
Humpback Reservoir site	57,777.95
Arbitration and legal expenses	8,766.10
	$339,026.85

To this amount has to be added the price of the watershed to be acquired from the E. & N. Ry. Co., and appertaining to Sooke Lake proper $304,089.50, and $75,000 for right of way not yet settled for, making a total for land of $738,116.35, or $538,116.35 more than the original estimate.

The first half-million dollars of the original loan was sold at 96, the remaining million only realized 91, and no better price can be expected for the new loan. This would make an amount of $125,000 chargeable to the increased cost of money. This added to $538,116.35 will account for $663,116.35 or 66% of the difference between the original estimated cost and the probable final cost of the completed work.

The annual cost of the first loan is $74,825.00, and that of the new one $78,270. The difference is caused by the increase of interest from 4% to 4½% on one million dollars of the first loan, and the whole of the new one, also a slight increase in the annual payment to the sinking fund, owing to the term of the new loan being fixed at 48 years so as to make due date of both the same. These payments cease on the first February, 1962, and the works which are the property of the ratepayers will be paid for.

Based on the consumption for the last four months, the annual charge for water purchased from the Esquimalt Water Works Co., will be approximately $80,000. This amount will increase yearly, and what it will be by 1962 it is impossible to forecast. The capacity of the present Sooke Lake installation is 16,000,000 gallons per diem at an annual cost of $153,095, or 2.62c per thousand gallons when the whole quantity is used. To buy 16,000,000 gallons daily from the Esquimalt Water Works Co., if it could be supplied, would cost six cents per thousand gallons, or $350,400 per year. Under the Sooke Lake scheme the cost of water per thousand gallons will decrease as the consumption increases until the minimum of 2.62 cents is reached. Under the present arrangement of buying water by the gallon from the Esquimalt Water Works Co. the cost is fixed by Statute at 6 cents per thousand gallons, no matter what the consumption.

LEGAL POSITION

The Corporation, under the authority of By-law No. 814, which received the assent of the electors on January 12, 1911, and was finally passed by the Council on January 16, 1911, obtained power to borrow $1,500,000 for acquiring and constructing the Sooke Lake Water System. A contract was made with the Westholme Lumber Company, Limited, to do the necessary construction work sufficient for the delivery of sixteen million gallons of water daily at the price of $1,169,170. This contract was submitted to and approved by the electors.

A term of the contract provides that if the contractor abandons the work, or if in the opinion of the Water Commissioner there is unnecessary or unreasonable delay the Water Commissioner is entitled to take over the work. This he has done under the power contained in the contract above referred to, and he is now engaged in completing the work charging the expense to the contractor. The Water Commissioner is entitled under the contract in case the cost exceeds the contract price, to collect the balance from the contractor. If on the other hand it is less, the contractor is entitled to the difference. The performance of the contract is guaranteed by bond of the United States Fidelity and Guaranty Company in the amount of the contract price.

The contracting company commenced a suit in the Supreme Court on April 11, 1913, against the City and various officers claiming to set aside the contract and for damages. This action has not yet come on for trial.

After investigation of the facts the City Solicitor is of opinion that the Water Commissioner was legally justified in taking over the work and he thinks the City has a good defence to the action.

Copy of the contract and of the pleadings in the action lie on the counter of the City Clerk's Office, where they may be inspected by any ratepayer.

THE FOLLOWING IS A BRIEF STATEMENT OF THE STATUS OF THE ENGINEERING FEATURES OF THE SOOKE WATER SUPPLY

In April of this year the Westholme Lumber Company (which Company under their Contract should have completed 65% of the work) abandoned their contract, having finished only 38½%. The Corporation of the City of Victoria, acting through their Water Commissioner, then took possession, and have since been carrying out the work by day labor.

Tenders for the construction of the concrete flowline and the pressure pipeline were called for, but these contracts have not yet been awarded, pending the submission of this By-law.

Work on that portion of the contract which we are undertaking by day labor is progressing satisfactorily. Unfortunately there was a delay in commencing of about three months, owing to the difficulty of procuring from the Receiver of the Westholme Lumber Co. the necessary plant and equipment, the Court having decided that the City were not entitled to take possession of the plant without compensation.

The work of clearing up to the new water level at Sooke Lake is practically finished. The construction of the dam at the lower end of the Lake is also under way.

On the flowline 27 miles of trackage has to be constructed for the purpose of transporting the concrete pipe. This work is under way, and a supply of rails has arrived at Cooper's Cove and are being delivered on the pipeline.

At Humpback Reservoir the excavation for the dam is finished and concreting is now in progress. The specifications provided that the bottom level of the Reservoir site, about 10 acres, should be covered with a layer of gravel and this material is being procured in the immediate vicinity. The work is progressing very satisfactorily.

There has been a great deal of discussion as to the capacity of the concrete pipe to deliver a sufficient amount of water. It is very difficult to predict the growth of cities, especially in the West, but our Consulting Engineer when reporting upon this matter in 1910 provided for a delivery of 16 million gallons, which under our present rate of consumption, which is about 80 gallons per head, would be sufficient for a population of about 200,000.

The Reservoir at Humpback will have a capacity of 136,000,000 gallons, which will be held in reserve in case any accident occurs to the flowline pipe, but the water will be delivered directly from Sooke Lake to the City through a bypass pipe.

The quality of the water at Sooke Lake has been questioned. Frequent analysis have been made, and only recently Dr. Hall, our Medical Health Officer, in a report after giving details of the result of the examination stated:

"In conclusion, I would say after bacteriological and chemical examination, the water in the big lake at Sooke is excellent, the middle lake slightly inferior to it, and the third or lower lake slightly inferior to the middle. In my opinion, if the citizens of Victoria receive such water as is contained in any of these lakes at the present time, they will have no reason for complaint."

It has also been suggested by certain parties that a considerable amount of power could be procured from Sooke Lake for the use of the City. Our Consulting Engineer, however, has stated that the maximum amount of horse power that could be developed is 3500, and the cost of developing this amount is such that it would not be a profitable investment.

The cost of delivering 16 million gallons, which is the maximum capacity of the concrete flowline pipe, including all charges will be about 2¼ cents per 1000 gallons.

The raising of the dam at Sooke Lake as outlined in Mr. Wynn Meredith's report of 1911 shows that there will be available 100 cubic feet per second, equal to nearly 54 million gallons of water per 24 hours. When this amount is being delivered the approximate cost per 1000 gallons will be 1 1/3 cents.

The $1,500,000 which is the estimated amount now required to complete this undertaking is made up as follows:

Amount to complete present contract	$1,170,000
Engineering, and contingencies	100,000
Right-of-way, land damages, etc.	500,000
Financial and legal expenses	130,000

Cash on hand	$1,900,000
	400,000

Total amount required $1,500,000

Mr. Rust, Water Commissioner, states that the money so far expended has been well spent, and there has been no waste of the public funds, and the citizens have received full value for every dollar expended.

FINANCE COMMITTEE COMMENTS

In connection with the foregoing reports, your Finance Committee begs to call the attention of the ratepayers to the following points:

1. Unless the City completes the work, it will be in the position of having to pay interest and sinking fund in respect of a loan of $1,500,000 for fifty years and having nothing of any practical benefit or use to show for it.
2. In answer to the argument that it would be wise to wait until financial conditions better and then to proceed with the work there would be great financial loss by reason of deterioration of the unfinished works now under construction; the litigation would be seriously affected by the Water Commissioner not having the funds to complete the work as called for under the contract and during this suggested cessation of work the interest and sinking fund payments would have to be made while the time when the works would become revenue-producing would be postponed.

3. Tendency in all Canadian cities at the present time is towards the Municipal ownership of the water works.

4. The vote will be taken at the Police Court Room, City Hall, on Thursday, October 2, 1913, between the hours of 9 a.m. and 7 p.m., and all ratepayers are earnestly requested to vote; the question is of the utmost importance to the citizens of Victoria and it is the duty of every qualified elector to vote on this most important question.

ALL ARE PLEASED WITH EXHIBITION

Exhibitors Are Warm in Praise of Treatment Accorded This Year

PACKING FOR HOME BECOMES ORDER OF DAY

Orderliness at Grounds Subject of Favorable Comment; Stock Parade Again

Getting away is the big thing in the minds of the exhibitors at the fair today. Live stock may be moved at any time after 4 o'clock this afternoon; but other exhibits may not be touched until 10 p. m. Getting away, however, is not such a big idea in the minds of the public attending the exhibition for sightseeing or pleasure. The threatening aspect of the weather yesterday kept the crowd down to 8,000, as opposed to 10,000 last year, and the odd 2,000 was added on to-day's crowd. This was evident from early morning, for there has been no forenoon during the fair when so many people were on the grounds. It is a matter of conjecture whether or not there will be as many people as on Thursday, the consensus of opinion being that when the figures are counted up they will be found far short.

A notable feature of the exhibition has been the general freedom from accidents and crooks. Chief Handley, of the Oak Bay police force, stated this morning that with the exception of the six games which he cleaned out at the beginning of things he has had not a single complaint of pickpocketing or other sharp practices. Two notorious pickpockets are on the grounds, the Spokane Kid and Gubby Jack, but they have been warned indirectly that they are being watched and have not operated to any appreciable extent. A number of the articles, watches, purses, etc., reported to Secretary Sangster as having been lost, may possibly be attributable to pickpockets, but most of the losses were undoubtedly the result of carelessness. This freedom from such operations is most remarkable in such big crowds as were all over the grounds on Thursday and to-day. The police expected a clean-up, but it never materialized. There have been no fires or accidents either except the one or two falls at the Horse Show and the races. A pair of ladies' glasses may be recovered by applying to Chief Handley. They were found at the fair.

Interest Continued.

There was ample of interest to entertain the crowds at the fair to-day. Judging of the Jersey cattle took place this morning in the live stock ring. The stock parade was repeated again at 2:15 p. m. in the big ring. There was a third polo match after the stock parade, and the races contained another trotting race. The usual demonstrations and band concerts went on in the buildings. The school children, however, were absentees, this not being a school day. In the woman's building at 4 o'clock Mrs. Heim addressed a large audience on memory training, and this evening at 8 Mr. Collins will give his last talk on bees. That these talks have been welcomed is evidenced by the fact that he spent his entire day with beekeepers who were interested in his lectures and wanted the benefit of his advice at their places. A number of persons have intimated their intention of taking up beekeeping commercially as a result of hearing Mr. Collins.

Boats For Exhibitors.

Arrangements for removing the exhibits to New Westminster were completed at a meeting with the railway men at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Two boats, the Princess Royal and the Charmer, leave one at midnight and the other to-morrow morning, for New Westminster, while two barges carrying 14 loads of stock leave to-night also. Space allotments were made on a scientific basis and the whole will be carried out with great ordipness. The greatest satisfaction was expressed by all the exhibitors at the treatment received. A number of technical protests against the judging were filed by a Dewdney exhibitor, Mr. Gardom, but in each case there was found to be nothing in the protests and they were disallowed by the executive committee.

The prize money was practically all distributed by this evening. Arrangements having been made by Secretary Sangster whereby it could be obtained by the winners within a couple of hours after the judging was completed. Over $17,000 was paid out in prize money.

Judging Stock.

Surprising knowledge, of the fine points of live stock of all kinds was shown by the young men who competed in the stock judging contests yesterday afternoon. The scores made by those both over and under 21 years of age were very high. Much public interest was taken in the competitions.

Three fine specimens of horse flesh from the Colony Farm, and similar groups of cattle, sheep and swine were brought out into the ring. By-weights and John A. Turner judged them, marking score cards with the number of points to which the stock was entitled on each quality. Then the young men in the contest looked over the animals and marked their cards.

After this the judges explained to the students and to the public the way they had marked their cards and why, information which the public seemed to appreciate highly. They also explained the great value of these contests in training the young men to express themselves clearly on the fine points of live stock. Each competitor was required to judge at least two of the four kinds of stock and his total score counted. The results tabulated are as follows:

FORTY TO CONTEST ESTATE.

Boston, Mass., Sept. 21.—The estate of Abel Stearns, of Los Angeles, valued at $7,000,000, will be contested by forty New England relatives when the question of its distribution comes up in the California city December 5. Mr. Stearns died forty years ago, leaving an estate consisting principally of Los Angeles property to his widow, Mrs. Arada Stearns Baker, who died intestate at Los Angeles a year ago.

LAXATIVE FOR OLD PEOPLE—"CASCARETS"

Salts, Calomel, Pills, Act on Bowels Like Pepper Acts in Nostrils.

Get a 10-cent box now. Most old people must give to the bowels some regular help, else they suffer from constipation. The condition is perfectly natural. It is just as natural as it is for old people to walk slowly. For age is never so active as youth. The muscles are less elastic. And the bowels are muscles. So all old people need Cascarets. One might as well refuse to aid weak eyes with glasses as to neglect this gentle aid to weak bowels. The bowels must be kept active. This is important at all ages, but never so much as at fifty. Age is not a time for harsh physics. Youth may occasionally whip the bowels into activity. But a lash can't be used every day. What the bowels of the old need is a gentle and natural tonic. One that can be constantly used without harm. The only such tonic is Cascarets, and they cost only 10 cents per box at any drug store. They work while you sleep.

NOTICE!

TO THE PUBLIC:

We announced in this paper last evening that all prices on unsold lots in Burnside Park, would be advanced 25 per cent on October 1, and to-day many of the friends of our purchasers availed themselves of the opportunity to purchase between now and October 1 at the present prices.

Since placing this property on the market three months ago, we have sold over 400 lots and the terms of $10.00 cash and $5.00 per month have induced a great many people to build on the property at once, thus saving rent. This is certainly the wise thing to do during times like these.

Our raise in prices is justified in that since the placing of this subdivision on the market, we have spent thousands of dollars on the construction of roads, and in that the present prices are way below surrounding values. We are building now the first of twenty houses which it is our intention to complete at an early date, and altogether Burnside Park offers you an opportunity you should be looking for. Beautiful large lots at low prices, ridiculous terms, $10.00 down and $5.00 per month, on any priced lot, free fire wood, the best of water obtainable and above all a chance to get out of the landlord's grasp are the present attractive features in Burnside Park, with the inauguration of a more frequent car service and the reduction of fares, which are bound to follow in such a rapidly growing section, values are sure to increase by leaps and bounds.

Come to the office at once for full particulars regarding this property and arrange to see same before October 1.

Present prices from $100 up and located eighteen minutes from the City Hall.

TO-DAY IN CANADIAN HISTORY

Upon this day in 1862 died Sir John Eardley Wilmot Inglis, who was knighted for his defence of Lucknow, during the Indian Mutiny of 1857. For eighty-seven days the Nova Scotian hero held the Residency of the city on the Ganges against a countless host of Sepoys. At the beginning of the siege he was second in command to Sir Henry Lawrence, but within the first few days the latter was killed by the explosion of a shell in his room. Inglis afterwards stated that at one time 3,000 rebels were firing into the British position, that the sick were killed in hospital and women and children shot dead in chambers supposed to be bullet-proof. His own wife and little ones were with him at the time, when through the sweltering heat of the rainy season the little garrison was on guard unceasingly, while the foe tried in turn to starve or to storm defences. It was only at long intervals that the beleaguered received news from their friends outside. At last the gallant Havlock fought his way with reinforcements to their aid. But it was November before the arrival of Sir Colin Campbell and his force enabled the defenders of Lucknow to make their way out.

In the waters off Newfoundland and Nova Scotia, where dense fogs and mountains of ice have often brought death and disaster to those who go down to the sea in ships, four White Star liners have felt the heavy hand of Father Neptune. The first of these disasters befell the White Star steamer Arctic fifty-nine years ago to-day. The vessel, en route from Liverpool to New York, with more than 400 persons on board, was struck when sixty-five miles off Cape Race, by the French steamer Vesta. The Arctic was injured so seriously that she quickly filled with water and went down in about three hours, carrying with her about 350 persons. Less than fifty were saved. A dense fog prevailed at the time of the collision. In 1873 the White Star liner Atlantic was caught in a storm and wrecked on the Nova Scotia coast, and of 976 persons on board 547 perished. Third of the White Star disasters involved the Naronic, which disappeared off the face of the deep leaving no trace, save for a life-boat picked up on the Newfoundland Banks. No need to recall the details of the Titanic disaster, fourth of the White Star liners to be claimed by "the graveyard of ships."

September 27 is the birthday of Hon. William Pugsley, minister of public works in the Laurier government, at Sussex, N. B., 1859; of James Bonar, political economist and deputy master of the Canadian mint, at Collace, Perthshire, 1852; and of Mon. Michel Edras Bernier, statesman, 1841. On this date ago to-day. Mr. Proctor found models for many of his famous works in the Bronx "Zoo," and others in the wilds of Alberta and British Columbia, where he has made many hunting trips into the forest wilds in search of local color. The sculptor's lions and tigers are so lifelike as to strike fear in the heart of the beholder, while one of his bears or panthers, if placed in a forest trail, would almost certainly make a Nimrod reach for his gun or climb a tree. Moose, panthers, elephants, buffaloes and deer are among Mr. Proctor's remarkable creations. On one of his hunting trips the sculptor lived for some time with the Blackfoot Indians, by whom he was adopted, and christened "Omikatayo," or "Wild Cat."

Mr. Proctor left Canada in his youth, removing to Colorado, where as a boy he hunted deer and wild-cats, and drew pictures of animals. The friendship of Millet enabled Mr. Proctor to go to Paris, where he studied under Puech and Inghelbert. From the first Mr. Proctor specialized in animals, and had no trouble in getting the beasts to pose for him.

ENTHUSIASTS CHEER CITY DELIVERY CLASS

Boxes Well Filled at Horse-Show; Smart Turn-out in Tandem Section

A moderately well-filled gallery gave the various representatives of the city delivery class its candid opinion of the merits of each, at the horse show last evening. The boxes were relatively the best patronized section of the building, and were nearly all occupied. The programme was good, and the appearance of the most popular event at the very beginning of the evening brought the spectators to their seats in good time.

Some of the animals exhibited a marked dislike for their work in the jumping event, while some notably good riding was seen in the same section. Meteor's rider, particularly, assisted his mount in clearing the hurdles in masterly manner, and took the chestnut through the test in smart style. Col. and Mrs. McRae's Bellina was rather better ridden than usual, and Fred of Erie went through without so much as flicking the brush.

Colonel McRae and Mrs. McRae vied for honors in the tandem event, the lady, despite an exceptionally fine turnout with Sir Hector and Sir James, and a display of wonderful horsemanship in her driving, taking second to the colonel's Sunrise and Perfect Dream.

A flashlight photograph was taken of each of the three teams, the event providing something by way of fresh amusement.

Indian Maid repeated her beautiful performance of Tuesday evening in the jumping class, and Lady M., Alexander McKinnon's mare, easily cleared the hurdles without seeming to even trouble to change gait. B. Irving's Plover was something of a newcomer, and its performance was watched with interest.

The polo ponies brought to light some new material, but Capt. Eyerard-Jones' Brown Jug was reserved until a succeeding event, and did not appear in the polo class.

KITTY GORDON WAS REAL "ENCHANTRESS"

Displayed Her Expensive Charms With Grace; a Good Comedy and Chorus

"She came, she saw, she conquered." The thrasonic boast of the old Roman might well have been applied to Kitty Gordon's appearance in Victoria last evening in the role of "The Enchantress." Her gown, her jewels, her smile, her other expensive allurements were the whole picture, and the ladies of the audience forgot the plot in the amazing entrances of the greatest "evening gown prima donna" in the world.

If Miss Gordon's voice were as good as her gowns or as carefully nurtured as her handsome back (so frequently displayed) then she would have been a very great leading lady indeed, for she has more than a rudimentary knowledge of acting. But her voice is not of the sort to rival successfully with Patti or Albani. On the other hand she makes the most of what nature has done for her vocally, and what her voice lacks in volume it nearly makes up for in sweetness. She is an artist in handling what vocal equipment she has.

The musical comedy itself is perhaps an improvement on the ruck now being presented. It moves towards a definite object, and the music though sketchy in places has plenty of body in it as well as melody. It is never cheap or banal. Miss Gordon plays the part of an opera singer in one of those little kingdoms tucked away between the paws of the great Russian bear of which Anthony Hope is so enamored. She was loved by the Prince of Zergovia to add to the illusion a tenor from the Vienna Royal Opera House has been specially imported, so that his English might be sufficiently broken. Incidentally there are introduced subsidiary characters in the person of a comic aunt, an American heiress hunting for a title so that the crest might be engraved on her father's lap, and a secret service man who is responsible for the chief humor of the comedy.

The book is above the average, for in addition to having a respectable story to tell, it contains many little quips and epigrams that have not yet been worn threadbare, and not a few of these fall to Kitty of the tired eyes and the languishing smile. There were an excellent chorus, which is something that Victoria has not seen and heard for a very long time. The sextette of the princesses is a revelation of what thoughtful selection and careful direction can do. The scenery is pretentious and somewhat wonderful in its way, while the lighting effects are excellently done.

ALL CLASSES MEET AT RACE TRACK

Some of the Various Characters Who Congregate at the Meets

HAS ATMOSPHERE AND LANGUAGE OF ITS OWN

Only Disinterested Beings Are the Horses Themselves

"They're off!"

Moved at the psychological moment by the hand of the starter on the lever the barrier rises with a sharp click, and half a dozen highly-trained horses, of varying colors but with coats of an equal glossiness, dart forward from a single catapult down the dirt track, their jockeys straining every nerve to aid the horses' efforts. A minute of breathless silence until the straight is reached, and then a roar which grows in volume and intensity until the finishing post is passed.

This is one side of the race track. The other reveals itself in the twenty minutes which elapse between the finish of the race and the start of the next. Down in the covered enclosure where are the paddocks and the pari-mutuel machines, are to be found struggling masses of humanity straining forward to get the money which their judgment or luck has enabled them to obtain. Here may be found individuals of every type, almost every species of the genus mankind—or at least that section of it which visits a race track.

For instance, there goes the professional race follower, who knows the pedigree of every horse in every race; can tell you its performances since it was foaled; talks glibly about "form"; can tell you which has got a cough or runs a bit lame. He reeks of the atmosphere of the stable.

There again is the professional tipster, who knows a thing or two. Why, he has brought up the "wags" with such a flourish of the tongue that a straight tip. Follow this or that jockey and your fortune is made. You can turn your pockets inside out for this animal, but for that, not a nickel, sir, not a red cent.

Then again mark the owner of horses. He swaggers about the paddock, hands deep in knee breeches pocket and his bowing the excitement, all touched, with his rubicund face. The angle of the cigar in the corner of his mouth indicates the elevation of his mind. From the lapel of his coat a large sign informs you that he is the owner of one of the magnificent creatures who go straining down the track to victory or defeat.

And then there are the betters, backers, plungers or whatever you like to call them. In long queues waiting to redeem their successful tickets for gold and bills, or struggling in an incoherent mass for fresh tickets on the next race, some triumphant, some despondent, they clutch their winnings or their tickets and are out again, all flushed with the excitement, all touched, with a little, some more, with the same great brush.

It is easy to tell which are the experienced backers, which the novices. Simple is it, also to locate the modest amateur plungers, putting five dollars timorously on a "place," from the professionals who make their living by following the meets. The one puts his money on with a certain deference towards the machine workers, and a certain hesitancy that bespeaks a loathness to part from hard-earned cash; the other makes his bets with an easy sang froid and assurance, and an ease born of long acquaintance with the game. But the mask of civility is on them all.

The ring has its humorous side as well. Oftentimes one may see four or five men pool a dollar or so apiece to put on a horse and then not know which animal to back. The usual result is the writing of the names on slips of paper, the putting of the same into a hat, and the drawing of lots. The first two out of the hat are backed. Then again is the inevitable lady who appears on the scene and insists on backing a horse "because its name is so pretty, you know." Also there is easily to be found the person who does not know what to do with his ticket when his horse has won, and who attempts to redeem it from the nearest policeman.

The race-track has an atmosphere of its own, almost a language of its own, and certainly a psychology that is peculiar to itself. Every emotion is there intensified whether it be greed, or despondency, or strength of triumph. There are a few who go only to watch the fine struggle of highly trained equine organisms against one another. But these are in the minority. For the most part the crowd is there to back their fancies or test the tip of some valued friend of the racing fraternity. The only disinterested being on the ground are the horses themselves.

When the last race is run, and the bandmen have put away their instruments for the day, the crowds troop slowly homewards, some jubilant, others sadder but wiser men. If the favorites have won the majority of the races, then the majority are satisfied; if the long shots have come home ahead, a few wildly jubilant, and the many are downcast. Life on the racing track is a series of thrills and heartburns that is as much unlike the ordinary normal course of life as an Oklahoma typhoon is like a steady trade wind.
